Business Tax Relief Readied

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—The Kennedy administration made a major move today toward better relations with business by announcing that liberalization of tax depreciation write-offs will be ordered soon.

Unofficial estimates set the 1962 tax savings at about $1.25 billion for big and little businessmen.

The announcement was made at a singularly appropriate forum—the Business Council, an organization of major industrialists headed by Chairman Roger M. Blough of U.S. Steel Corp., President Kennedy's chief antagonist in the April steel price tussle.

Big Steel rolled back its price increases under pressures from Kennedy.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon sent the word that the revision is now in its final stages. He said the write-offs will be ordered into effect late next month or in July at the latest.

Dillon, detained in Washington by congressional hearings, was unable to attend today's opening session of the Business Council's spring meeting. Undersecretary Henry H. Fowler read Dillon's speech at the closed-door session, after giving copies to newsmen.

As if in direct reply to those who have charged since the steel battle that the Kennedy administration is antibusiness, Fowler, told the 100 assembled corporation heads:

"Our depreciation revision as a whole will, indeed, be meaningful to American industry and to the entire American economy.

"Can anyone any longer doubt this?"

The Treasury official gave no actual figures and made no estimate of the amount industry would save—and the Treasury would lose—by shortening the periods in which companies can write off the cost of new machinery and equipment.

But, he said the bigger annual deductions it will permit will take effect in this 1962 tax year, will be usable as a matter of right by all taxpayers, and will apply to machines and equipment already in use as well as to those bought subsequently.

His words dispelled suspicions voiced in some quarters that there would be only a token liberalization, or that the prospect of faster depreciation was being used merely as bait to induce businessmen to support the other key elements of the administration's tax program—the bill providing a tax credit for investment made in modernization.

Boy, 12, Plays Stock Market

Oklahoman in Red, But He's Optimistic

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Like many other stockholders, Pete Harpster is behind in a falling market. But Pete—who's only 12—figures to hold on for a recovery.

Pete has been trading in stocks since he was eight years old. His parents got him started with five shares of El Paso Natural Gas Co. Now they let him trade as he wishes—with the advice of his broker.

What does he think is behind the stock market decline, which sent prices tumbling again Thursday and dropped the Dow-Jones averages by 7.47?

"President Kennedy," he replied.

Pete explained he thinks President Kennedy frightened investors by forcing the steel industry to rescind its recent price increase. Stockholders are selling out as a result, he said.

Pete hasn't sold and doesn't plan to, although he's behind more than $9 on his $336 portfolio. "I'm waiting for a recovery," he said.

He is confident of an eventual recovery, but cautious about forecasting when. Is now a good time to buy, then? "I'd wait for a little while," Pete said. "It should go down further."

Pete scans reports which his father, an accountant, brings home for him, but trading is strictly up to the sixth grader.

Pete's worst loss has been a 34-a-share fall in a space stock. A recent purchase of a gas and electric company bolstered his overall position, though.

"It's what's keeping me alive," he said.

Delay Hinted In Man Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The attempt to launch astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter into orbit around the earth, scheduled for May 17, has been delayed, informed sources reported today.

There were indications the delay would be several days. There was no immediate word from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The informant said the delay was necessary to correct troubles in the attitude control system of the capsule, which is in place atop the Atlas booster on launch pad 14.

The attitude control system caused some trouble on astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s orbital flight on Feb. 20.

Carpenter's flight is to be a near-duplicate of Glenn's three orbit space journey.

Corner Clock Comes Down

Famous Landmark Is Removed Today

An old Circleville landmark, the famous Court and Main St. clock at the First National Bank, was taken down today as work progressed for construction of a new banking institution.

The clock, installed here in 1912, is now the property of the wrecking firm, Corkwell and Sons of Chillicothe, that is demolishing the old building.

A representative of the firm said sale of the old timepiece is planned. Purchase inquiries from persons in other towns already have been made. They said that nobody from Circleville had voiced any interest in the clock.

T. D. Harmon, executive vice president of the bank, announced today temporary rooms of the bank in the Crist Building were ready for the transfer of facilities. This move is slated to start noon tomorrow.

THE BANK will set up headquarters in the rooms last occupied by the C. J. Schneider Furniture store. The bookkeeping service will be on the second floor.

Harmon said personnel will continue to use the vault in the bank. It will be protected by a temporary shelter during the demolition of the old building.

There will be covered walkways to and from the vault and an armed guard will be maintained when the huge safe is open.

The tearing down of the building, constructed in 1877, will be completed in three weeks. The first new facility to be constructed will be a vault.

When completed, the contents of the old vault will be transferred, and the new building will be built around it.

Harmon said that full service including drive-in facilities would be maintained by the bank during construction.

Prof Urges Using Modern Literature

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Harvard professor says it is a shame more modern literature isn't read in high school classes.

Dr. Edwin Sauer suggested Thursday night that parents get together with teachers and form committees to prepare the community for the use of realistic books by the better modern authors.

The trouble is he told the spring conference of the Rhode Island Council of Teachers "in modern literature what's clean is not clear and what's clear is not clean."

Dr. Sauer, an associate professor at the Harvard School of Education, said high school students were capable of handling literature of great maturity.

"If they are expected to react like adults to realistic literature they will," he said. "Teachers should learn how to teach such literature."

Since practically all of modern literature is quite realistic, he said students are being deprived of a wealth of learning material by being protected from it.

Of the six Americans who have won the Nobel Prize for literature, all except Pearl Buck are taboo in the classroom he said. The absence of such authors as Ernest Hemingway, Sinclair Lewis, Eugene O'Neill, William Faulkner and T. S. Eliot represents "a serious cultural lag" he contended.

French Cut Army Duty

PAIRS (AP)—The French Defense Ministry Thursday reduced military service in France from 27 to 18 months.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All activated personnel of the Ohio Air National Guard—with the exception of a few who volunteer to remain on active duty long enough to close out unit records—will be returned to their home bases by Aug. 31.

The announcement by the adjutant general's office Thursday also disclosed that an advance echelon will be returned from Europe at least 15 days early to prepare for the return of the men.

Air guardsmen will be returned to the control of the state from which they entered active duty with concurrent assignment to their parent Guard units.

Certain utilities properties west and north of Circleville and facilities in and adjacent to Ashville will be affected by the Federal Power Commission's authorization for transfer of electric facilities of Ohio-Midland Light & Power Co. of Canal Winchester.

Ohio-Midland will transfer its electric utility properties in Groveport and Obetz Junction to Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. in exchange for the properties in the Circleville and Ashville areas.

In addition, Ohio-Midland will sell to Columbus & Southern Ohio certain other utility facilities in Circleville, Columbus, Hilliard and Reynoldsburg and north of Chillicothe and its railroad properties in Pickaway County. The purchase price will be $6.46 million, subject to closing adjustments.

According to C&SOE officials, the exchange means Ohio - Midland will now service the entire village of Ashville. In the Circleville area, O-M will service an area west of the Scioto River to the general intersection of Routes 22 and 56 and an area on the Island Road extending to the general proximity of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

THE SALE of facilities will authorize Columbus & Southern Ohio to service five houses on the far end of Walnut Creek Pike to Dunkel Road, plus Prairie Lanes Recreation Center and the Orin Birch farm. The railroad property involved in the transaction is the line which crosses Route 23 near the Pickaway - Franklin County

'Death Ray' Under Study

Laser Theory Tested In U.S. Army Lab

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Imagine a small beam of light so intense that when aimed for a split second at a piece of steel it punches a hole through the tough metal.

Sound like the disintegration-ray guns of the comic strips?

Experiments of that sort are being conducted at Redstone Arsenal in a research laboratory of the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Substitute an attacking enemy missile for the piece of steel, and the reason behind the Army's interest in the light becomes apparent.

Some sources say the ray may be developed into a reliable anti-missile weapon in 20 years or less.

It is known as the Laser—short for "Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

Laser beams have been used in eye surgery to weld a detached retina back into place.

At Redstone the work is under direction of William B. McKnight.

"The Laser produces light not like the sun, but stimulates the atoms of the Laser material to radiate light coherently—light that is much better behaved than with other means," says McKnight.

A typical piece of Laser material is a synthetic ruby rod about half an inch in diameter and four inches long. It is inserted in the center of a spiral lamp, or light bulb. The ends of the rod are coated with a silver paint, one more heavily than the other.

When the lamp is flashed it emits a bright light that excites chromium ions in the ruby and causes them to go to a higher level of energy.

Electromagnetic waves pulsating through the rod stimulate the ions to amplify the light and radiate it from the end of the rod which has the lesser amount of silver on it.

The light, radiated at high frequency, passes through a lens which focuses it, creating a powerful concentration of energy.

Officially, the missile command does not acknowledge that it is primarily interested in the Laser's potential as a "death ray."

Algeria Expecting More Slit Throats

ALGIERS (AP)—Even more Secret Army Organization slaying of Moslem women and girls was feared today following the throat slitting of a European mother and daughter.

European terrorists slaughtered 18 Moslem women and a young girl in Algeria Thursday after Moslems were blamed for the slaying of a pregnant European woman in Oran on Wednesday. But Algerian Nationalist leaders still kept the Moslem masses under control and as yet there was not outbreak from that side.

Terrorist attacks took 55 lives—all but nine of them Moslem—in the North African territory Thursday. Another 28 persons 23 of them Moslems were wounded.

Vatican Criticizes Titov's Atheism

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican radio has criticized Soviet spaceman Gherman S. Titov for his remark in the United States that he saw "neither God nor angels" during his 17 orbits of the earth.

"It was no wonder that Titov saw neither God nor angels during his flight," said the Vatican broadcast. "Neither did Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. a believer see them. But he invoked them certain that they saw him."

The commentator praised the New York Daily News for its sharp attack on Titov for spreading Soviet atheism in the United States.

Rio-U.S. Pact Signed

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The United States and Brazil have signed an agreement to improve technical training in Brazil under the Alliance for Progress program.

The accord calls for a $235,000 contribution from Brazil and $85,000 from the U.S.

However, the commission said, a substantial majority of the customers transferred to Columbus reside in municipalities where the present rates will continue, while those customers of Midland who are transferred to South Central will receive a rate decrease.

CHAMBER DINNER — Many area business and professional men were on hand last night to hear U. S. Chamber of Commerce official John F. Hall discuss the economic picture in Circleville and similar size cities. He said Circleville has all the potential needed in becoming a shopping center within its own limits.

City's Economic Potential Recognized by Chamber Head

Circleville has all the potential to become a shopping center within its own boundaries.

This was one of several statements voiced by John F. Hall of the United States Chamber of Commerce, guest speaker at last night's Area Chamber membership recognition dinner at the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

The "Greetin' Meetin'" was attended by about 65 local business and professional men and special guests.

Hall, basing his talk on a "Wake the Town and Tell the People" theme, placed a main emphasis on offering tips on the many facets for better economy. Basic facts on Chambers of Commerce and their objectives were included in his comments.

The speaker said Circleville and cities of similar size have all the requirements for ideal shopping and favorable economic growth. Preparation for this growth is vital, he added.

FRIENDLY and courteous service to customers at all times was another reminder voiced by Hall. He said a friendly business-consumer atmosphere must prevail.

Hall said the Chamber of Commerce throughout the United States is a strong voluntary organization with the prime purpose of getting things done through ideas. He also described Chambers as the means of building and protecting what has already been built and what is being built.

The grouping of minds, manpower and money through individuals banding together was additional advice given by the speaker.

The tearing down of the building, constructed in 1877, will be completed in three weeks. The first new facility to be constructed will be a vault.

When completed, the contents of the old vault will be transferred, and the new building will be built around it.

Harmon said that full service including drive-in facilities would be maintained by the bank during construction.

Prof Urges Using Modern Literature

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Harvard professor says it is a shame more modern literature isn't read in high school classes.

Dr. Edwin Sauer suggested Thursday night that parents get together with teachers and form committees to prepare the community for the use of realistic books by the better modern authors.

The trouble is he told the spring conference of the Rhode Island Council of Teachers "in modern literature what's clean is not clear and what's clear is not clean."

Dr. Sauer, an associate professor at the Harvard School of Education, said high school students were capable of handling literature of great maturity.

"If they are expected to react like adults to realistic literature they will," he said. "Teachers should learn how to teach such literature."

Since practically all of modern literature is quite realistic, he said students are being deprived of a wealth of learning material by being protected from it.

Of the six Americans who have won the Nobel Prize for literature, all except Pearl Buck are taboo in the classroom he said. The absence of such authors as Ernest Hemingway, Sinclair Lewis, Eugene O'Neill, William Faulkner and T. S. Eliot represents "a serious cultural lag," he contended.

The announcement by the adjutant general's office Thursday also disclosed that an advance echelon will be returned from Europe at least 15 days early to prepare for the return of the men.

Air guardsmen will be returned to the control of the state from which they entered active duty with concurrent assignment to their parent Guard units.

Air Guard Return Date Is Aug. 21

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—All activated personnel of the Ohio Air National Guard—with the exception of a few who volunteer to remain on active duty long enough to close out unit records—will be returned to their home bases by Aug. 31.

The announcement by the adjutant general's office Thursday also disclosed that an advance echelon will be returned from Europe at least 15 days early to prepare for the return of the men.

Air guardsmen will be returned to the control of the state from which they entered active duty with concurrent assignment to their parent Guard units.

Electric Facilities Transfer, Sale Approved by Commission

Certain utilities properties west and north of Circleville and facilities in and adjacent to Ashville will be affected by the Federal Power Commission's authorization for transfer of electric facilities of Ohio-Midland Light & Power Co. of Canal Winchester.

Ohio-Midland will transfer its electric utility properties in Groveport and Obetz Junction to Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. in exchange for the properties in the Circleville and Ashville areas.

In addition, Ohio-Midland will sell to Columbus & Southern Ohio certain other utility facilities in Circleville, Columbus, Hilliard and Reynoldsburg and north of Chillicothe and its railroad properties in Pickaway County. The purchase price will be $6.46 million, subject to closing adjustments.

According to C&SOE officials, the exchange means Ohio-Midland will now service the entire village of Ashville. In the Circleville area, O-M will service an area west of the Scioto River to the general intersection of Routes 22 and 56 and an area on the Island Road extending to the general proximity of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

THE SALE of facilities will authorize Columbus & Southern Ohio to service five houses on the far end of Walnut Creek Pike to Dunkel Road, plus Prairie Lanes Recreation Center and the Orin Birch farm. The railroad property involved in the transaction is the line which crosses Route 23 near the Pickaway-Franklin County

Toledo Chemical Blast Kills 9 Men, Hurts 46

'Death Ray' Under Study

Laser Theory Tested In U.S. Army Lab

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Imagine a small beam of light so intense that when aimed for a split second at a piece of steel it punches a hole through the tough metal. Sound like the disintegration-ray guns of the comic strips?

Experiments of that sort are being conducted at Redstone Arsenal in a research laboratory of the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

Substitute an attacking enemy missile for the piece of steel, and the reason behind the Army's interest in the light becomes apparent.

Some sources say the ray may be developed into a reliable anti-missile weapon in 20 years or less.

It is known as the Laser—short for "Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

Laser beams have been used in eye surgery to weld a detached retina back into place.

At Redstone the work is under direction of William B. McKnight.

"The Laser produces light not like the sun, but stimulates the atoms of the Laser material to radiate light coherently—light that is much better behaved than with other means," says McKnight.

A typical piece of Laser material is a synthetic ruby rod about half an inch in diameter and four inches long. It is inserted in the center of a spiral lamp, or light bulb. The ends of the rod are coated with a silver paint, one more heavily than the other.

When the lamp is flashed it emits a bright light that excites chromium ions in the ruby and causes them to go to a higher level of energy.

Electromagnetic waves pulsating through the rod stimulate the ions to amplify the light and radiate it from the end of the rod which has the lesser amount of silver on it.

The light, radiated at high frequency, passes through a lens which focuses it, creating a powerful concentration of energy.

Officially, the missile command does not acknowledge that it is primarily interested in the Laser's potential as a "death ray."

Algeria Expecting More Slit Throats

ALGIERS (AP)—Even more Secret Army Organization slaying of Moslem women and girls was feared today following the throat slitting of a European mother and daughter.

European terrorists slaughtered 18 Moslem women and a young girl in Algeria Thursday after Moslems were blamed for the slaying of a pregnant European woman in Oran on Wednesday. But Algerian Nationalist leaders still kept the Moslem masses under control and as yet there was not outbreak from that side.

Terrorist attacks took 55 lives—all but nine of them Moslems—in the North African territory Thursday. Another 28 persons 23 of them Moslems were wounded.

Vatican Criticizes Titov's Atheism

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican radio has criticized Soviet spaceman Gherman S. Titov for his remark in the United States that he saw "neither God nor angels" during his 17 orbits of the earth.

"It was no wonder that Titov saw neither God nor angels during his flight," said the Vatican broadcast. "Neither did (Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., a believer see them. But he invoked them certain that they saw him."

The commentator praised the New York Daily News for its sharp attack on Titov for spreading Soviet atheism in the United States.

Rio-U.S. Pact Signed

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The United States and Brazil have signed an agreement to improve technical training in Brazil under the Alliance for Progress program. The accord calls for a $235,000 contribution from Brazil and $85,000 from the U.S.

CHAMBER DINNER — Many area business and professional men were on hand last night to hear U. S. Chamber of Commerce official John F. Hall discuss the economic picture in Circleville and similar size cities. He said Circleville has all the potential needed in becoming a shopping center within its own limits.

City's Economic Potential Recognized by Chamber Head

Circleville has all the potential to become a shopping center within its own boundaries.

This was one of several statements voiced by John F. Hall of the United States Chamber of Commerce, guest speaker at last night's Area Chamber membership recognition dinner at the St. Philip's Church Parish House. The "Greetin' Meetin'" was attended by about 65 local business and professional men and special guests.

Hall, basing his talk on a "Wake the Town and Tell the People" theme, placed a main emphasis on offering tips on the many facets for better economy. Basic facts on Chambers of Commerce and their objectives were included in his comments.

The speaker said Circleville and cities of similar size have all the requirements for ideal shopping and favorable economic growth. Preparation for this growth is vital, he added.

FRIENDLY and courteous service to customers at all times was another reminder voiced by Hall. He said a friendly business-consumer atmosphere must prevail.

Hall said the Chamber of Commerce throughout the United States is a strong voluntary organization with the prime purpose of getting things done through ideas. He also described Chambers as the means of building and protecting what has already been built and what is being built.

The grouping of minds, manpower and money through individual banding together was additional advice given by the speaker.

Winter Wheat Forecast Is Reduced Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's winter wheat crop at 891,498,000 bushels.

This figure is 29,672,000 bushels less than 921,170,000 bushels forecast a month ago. It compares with 1,076,274,000 produced last year and 876,232,000 for the 10-year (1951-60) average.

No forecast was given for spring wheat.

Debris Covers 5-Block Area

3-Story Building In Explosion Center

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Firemen continued today to probe the charred debris of a chemical plant where an explosion Thursday killed at least nine persons and injured 46.

Authorities said the body of one person still unaccounted for may be in the debris of the Maumee Chemical Co. All the dead were company employees.

Nine of the injured remained in Toledo hospitals.

The devastating explosion in the three-story plant near downtown Toledo spewed wreckage over a five-block area.

Great clouds of multi-colored smoke—at one point it was a brilliant orange—rolled over the city as chemicals in the plant burned.

Streets were littered with glass from windows shattered by the force of the explosion.

"I'm damned lucky to be alive," commented Wilfred C. Lauer, manager of a grocery store across the street from the plant. The plant was located on the east bank of the Maumee River. The downtown area is on the west bank, less than a quarter mile away.

Lauer said he and a customer fled the store after one minor explosion inside the plant. When an alarm stopped ringing, the grocer said he returned to his store.

Then, "There was a terrific explosion. . . . There was debris flying. . . . The building just collapsed," he added.

In a nearby office building, 73-year-old Charles Bigley said he was walking away from his desk near a window when the chemical plant went "boom."

Bigley said the blast "just lifted me up. For a minute or two I couldn't breathe."

Window glass sprayed his desk, he said, adding: "The good Lord was with me that time."

The cause of the blast? "It could have been caused by a lot of things. . . . We may never know," said R. H. Baldwin, company chief engineer.

Officials declined to estimate the amount of damage.

A building across the street sagged under the force of the explosion. Homes were jolted, cracking plaster, floors and ceilings. Police and firemen evacuated families from the area when fumes and the possibility of additional explosions were feared.

8th Nuclear Test Is Fired by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States touched off today its eighth nuclear detonation of the current Pacific test series in the atmosphere.

As with most of the other shots of Operation Dominic, the device was dropped from an airplane.

A joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the explosive force was in the intermediate yield range, meaning it had force greater than 20,000 tons of TNT but less than one million tons.

The test was in the vicinity of Christmas Island.

U.N. Peace Force Vital To Arms Plan, Dean Says

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said today the American-proposed United Nations peace force is vital to insure effective disarmament.

Dean noted at a plenary assembly of the 17-nation disarmament conference some of the major East-West differences have appeared over this problem.

Dean, chief U.S. delegate, said that the Soviet disarmament proposal tend to impair the present East-West military balance, which he said must be maintained through the various stages of any worldwide disarmament program.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury further tightened curbs on imports of Cuban goods Thursday, barring traveling Americans from purchasing such items in other countries and bringing them home in their baggage.

Yank Calls Move to Russia Exceptionally Tragic Mistake

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Philadelphia railroad worker, who forsook the United States in the belief that a better life beckoned in the Soviet Union, returned home with his family today in bitter disillusionment.

"I have made an exceptionally tragic mistake," David Paul Johnson, 32, sadly told newsmen at Idlewild Airport.

Although Johnson, his wife and twin 4-year-old sons spent about a week in the Soviet Union, he said it takes only 10 minutes there to see that the Soviet Union is "an evil, bad thing."

Johnson said that anyone inclined to support Communist causes in this country, as he did, ought to go to there and look around and see what is there.

The Johnsons and their sons, Cole and Lindsey, appeared extremely weary as they stepped from an airliner at Idlewild. There was no immediate word as to what they would do next, except that Johnson said he wished to talk with a State Department representative.

Before leaving London on Thursday night, he told embassy officials that he misjudged the whole situation. He reported he found Russians ill-fed and clothed, and living in poor housing.

Johnson said he had supported Communist causes in Philadelphia for the past eight years but never was a party member.

Johnson had been a $112-a-week timekeeper for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia. He and his wife sold all their furnishings and most other possessions to finance the move to the Soviet Union.

They left London for Leningrad on the Soviet liner Baltika on April 23. By train they went from Leningrad to Moscow.

Their disillusionment came quickly. By last Monday they were back in London—again on the Baltika. They had to spend three days on it at the London docks because British immigration officials refused permission for them to land.

That was because the Johnsons had only about $450 left, not enough to pay for plane tickets home. The order was rescinded when Mrs. Johnson's father, John Zepenas of Manchester, N.H., put up the $300 additional needed.

Stocks Show Feeble Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—A badly battered stock market made a feeble technical recovery early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .90 at 239.40 with industrials up 1.70, rails up .60 and utilities up .10. Prices moved ahead quite smartly in early trading but soon began backing away from the best gains.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to about a point although most gains were small and a number of stocks were either unchanged or lower.

The tone remained generally higher among steels, motors, rails, chemicals, oils, drugs and building materials. Tobacco declined. Nonferrous metals were mixed.

Teachers Federation Seeks Organizers

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A call for more organizers went out Thursday as the 28th annual three-day convention of the Ohio Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) opened here.

Mrs. Dorothy Matheny of Toledo, a vice president of the American federation, said lack of organizers has caused the group to miss chances to open new local chapters around the state.

Mutual Fund Sales Tricks Explored by Federal Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Tricky techniques" for mutual fund salesmen are being explored at hearings by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

SEC attorney Meyer Eisenberg quoted at length Wednesday from training manuals outlining tactics which he suggested were quite out of keeping with the high standards professed by the fund industry, one of the fastest growing segments of the securities business.

The SEC is conducting a broad investigation of the entire securities industry.

The sales lessons cited by Eisenberg were taken from training manuals prepared by Kalb, Voorhis & Co., a New York Stock Exchange brokerage firm which specializes in the publication of sales and training aids for mutual fund retailers.

In one lesson, a novice salesman was urged to call a relative or friend and ask to see him to get advice. It said this should be enough to get him inside the house.

Once on the scene, he was told, he should say he was taking on a new job and wanted practice in trying out his sales presentation. He should ask his relative or friend to pretend to be a potential customer and ask whatever questions might come to mind during the sales talk.

Once the presentation has been made, the manual suggested, the salesman should say, "The more I think of it, George, the more I think you should invest in mutual funds." And he should go on from there to close the sale.

More Refugees Flee Red China

Armed Soldiers Among Hong Kong Arrivals

HONG KONG (AP)—Hundreds of soldiers and militiamen—some carrying weapons with them—were among refugees streaming into this British Crown Colony from Communist China Wednesday, local newspapers reported.

Government officials refused to comment on the reports, and newsmen are barred from the border area.

Five Hong Kong newspapers, including the conservative English-language Morning Post, carried the reports of the military refugees.

The Post said 300 military men crossed over Wednesday and that villagers in the border region reported Hong Kong police quickly surrounded them.

The Chinese-language Hong Kong Times said the troops carried white flags and their leaders asked that they be sent to Formosa to join Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist army.

The surge of refugees from Red China has increased to about 10,000 a month. Because of the overcrowded conditions in the colony, British officials are shipping thousands of them back.

There have been growing suspicions that Peking is behind exodus to embarrass the British authorities in Hong Kong and to get rid of many persons regarded as nonproductive in the country confronted with an acute food shortage.

The English-language Hong Kong Standard reported armed Communist guards were herding large groups to the border during the night and forcing them to scramble through the barbed wire. The paper said villagers along the border and refugees reported 30,000 to 40,000 Chinese were waiting in villages and hill-sides on the China side for a chance to slip over.

Velma Burtner Named Leader Of Salk Drive

Mrs. Velma M. Burtner, Ashville, has been named director of the Pickaway County Salk Institute campaign to raise funds to build and equip the Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

The appointment was announced by John B. Weigle, chairman of the Pickaway County Chapter of the National Foundation - March of Dimes which is sponsoring a nationwide appeal for the Institute from June 1-15.

Mrs. Burtner has been treasurer of the Pickaway County Chapter of the March of Dimes for eight years. She is an assistant cashier at the Savings Bank here. She has been associated with the institution for 11½ years.

She is a native of Pickaway County and lives with her husband and two daughters in Ashville.

MRS. BURTNER announced that plans for the local campaign are being completed. She said the overall goal has been set at $15 million.

The Institute, being built at San Diego, California, on a site donated by vote of the city residents will be directed by Dr. Jonas Salk. It will provide facilities in which many of the world's most eminent scientists will study the elemental processes of life.

Coming from many different parts of the world, these scientists will be working in a laboratory of life from which can come knowledge and discoveries pointing the way to better health and fuller lives for men, women and children everywhere.

Accepting the appointment to lead the local campaign, Mrs. Burtner said: "In developing the polio vaccine we had a magnificent example of what could be done for health through teamwork between the American people and our scientists.

"This is another great opportunity for us to work shoulder-to-shoulder with Dr. Salk and his colleagues to achieve benefits for mankind that may be of even greater importance than the vaccine."

Register Drop

According to a release from the office of State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, sales tax and motor vehicle tax collections in Pickaway county lag behind collections of last year.

Sales tax collections since July 1, 1961 in the county are $28,761.60 less than they were for the same period during the last fiscal year. This is a decrease of nearly 13 per cent, as compared with a state wide decrease of about 6.4 per cent.

Motor vehicle taxes collected in the county are over 7.1 per cent less than for the previous year. Total collections for the state show an increase of 1.7 per cent over collections for the previous year.

William Cowell was knocked flat as he walked several blocks from the plant. He was reported in serious condition at St. Charles Hospital.

Others reported being thrown violently to the ground or against walls or other objects.

Some of the chemical company's employees were attending a safety meeting in the plant cafeteria. They were second shift workers who reported early for the weekly safety program.

One of the workers, 33-year-old Herbert Frisbee, suffered only minor cuts.

Among the dead was Gerald W. Hickey, who had gone to work for the company only a few months ago, moving here from Providence, R.I. Other dead included Carl Griesinger, 25; Winfield Bowman, 51; Harry McCord 65; James Fincher, B. A. Pedigo, W. T. Hamilton, Robert Wambold and Charles Stapf, all employees.

The fire that followed the blast burned out of control for more than three hours. It was another five hours before the wreckage cooled enough to permit the search for victims.

Johnson said he had supported Communist causes in Philadelphia for the past eight years but never was a party member.

Johnson had been a $12-a-week timekeeper for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia. He and his wife sold all their furnishings and most other possessions to finance the move to the Soviet Union.

They left London for Leningrad on the Soviet liner Baltika on April 23. By train they went from Leningrad to Moscow.

Their disillusionment came quickly. By last Monday they were back in London—again on the Baltika. They had to spend three days on it at the London docks because British immigration officials refused permission for them to land.

That was because the Johnsons had only about $450 left, not enough to pay for plane tickets home. The order was rescinded when Mrs. Johnson's father, John Zapenas of Manchester, N.H., put up the $300 additional needed.

Others reported being thrown violently to the ground or against walls or other objects.

Some of the chemical company's employees were attending a safety meeting in the plant cafeteria. They were second shift workers who reported early for the weekly safety program.

One of the workers, 33-year-old Herbert Frisbee, suffered only minor cuts.

Among the dead was Gerald W. Hickey, who had gone to work for the company only a few months ago, moving here from Providence, R.I. Other dead included Carl Griesenger, 25; Winfield Bowman, 51; Harry McCord 65; James Fincher, B. A. Pedigo, W. T. Hamilton, Robert Wambold and Charles Stapf, all employees.

The fire that followed the blast burned out of control for more than three hours. It was another five hours before the wreckage cooled enough to permit the search for victims.

Seven Motorists Fined by Court

Seven motorists were fined today by Circleville Municipal Court for traffic violations. Cases were: John F. Fissell, 32, of 354 Cedar Heights Road, and Mary M. Thornton, 50, of 1017 Mulberry Road; each fined $15 and costs for failing to observe stop signs. They were arrested by the State Highway Patrol. Other Patrol arrests were:

Charles H. Strawser, 64, Grose Point, Mich.; $15 and costs for speeding at 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Arthur D. Kelly, 22, Fort Gay, W. Va.; $20 and costs for speeding at 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Curtis M. Turner, 38, Charlotte, N. C.; $41 and costs for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Robert D. Cotton, 20, of 611 S. Scioto St.; $15 and costs for failing to yield the right of way.

Stuart Scott, 25, Cleveland; $20 and costs for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Tricky techniques" for mutual fund salesmen are being explored at hearings by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

SEC attorney Meyer Eisenberg quoted at length Wednesday from training manuals outlining tactics which he suggested were quite out of keeping with the high standards professed by the fund industry, one of the fastest growing segments of the securities business.

The SEC is conducting a broad investigation of the entire securities industry.

The sales lessons cited by Eisenberg were taken from training manuals prepared by Kalb, Voorhis & Co., a New York Stock Exchange brokerage firm which specializes in the publication of sales and training aids for mutual fund retailers.

In one lesson, a novice salesman was urged to call a relative or friend and ask to see him to get advice. It said this should be enough to get him inside the house.

Once on the scene, he was told, he should say he was taking on a new job and wanted practice in trying out his sales presentation.

He should ask his relative or friend to pretend to be a potential customer and ask whatever questions might come to mind during the sales talk.

Once the presentation has been made, the manual suggested, the salesman should say, "The more I think of it, George, the more I think you should invest in mutual funds." And he should go on from there to close the sale.

Another suggestion offered retailers by Kalb, Voorhis was to conduct "Mr. and Mrs. meetings" for salesmen and their wives. At such sessions, an array of merchandise—including a mink coat—should be paraded before the audience, complete with price tags. Then the salesmen and their mates should be told how many extra sales would be needed to pay for each article.

"Is this motivation of salesmen consistent with the soft sell or the hard sell?" asked Eisenberg.

Ferdinand Nauheim, a Kalb, Voorhis partner, replied that the purpose would be to get salesmen's wives to understand and sympathize with their work because they must necessarily be away from home a great deal during the evening, which could cause resentment.

Five Hong Kong newspapers, including the conservative English-language Morning Post, carried the reports of the military refugees.

The Post said 300 military men crossed over Wednesday and that villagers in the border region reported Hong Kong police quickly surrounded them.

The Chinese-language Hong Kong Times said the troops carried white flags and their leaders asked that they be sent to Formosa to join Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist army.

The surge of refugees from Red China has increased to about 10,000 a month. Because of the overcrowded conditions in the colony, British officials are shipping thousands of them back.

There have been growing suspicions that Peking is behind exodus to embarrass the British authorities in Hong Kong and to get rid of many persons regarded as nonproductive in the country confronted with an acute food shortage.

The English-language Hong Kong Standard reported armed Communist guards were herding large groups to the border during the night and forcing them to scramble through the barbed wire. The paper said villagers along the border and refugees reported 30,000 to 40,000 Chinese were waiting in villages and hill-sides on the China side for a chance to slip over.

Mrs. Dorothy Matheny of Toledo, a vice president of the American federation, said lack of organizers has caused the group to miss chances to open new local chapters around the state.

Mutual Fund Sales Tricks Explored by Federal Agency

Velma Burtner Named Leader Of Salk Drive

Mrs. Velma M. Burtner, Ashville, has been named director of the Pickaway County Salk Institute campaign to raise funds to build and equip the Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

The appointment was announced by John B. Weigle, chairman of the Pickaway County Chapter of the National Foundation - March of Dimes which is sponsoring a nationwide appeal for the Institute from June 1-15.

Mrs. Burtner has been treasurer of the Pickaway County Chapter of the March of Dimes for eight years. She is an assistant cashier at the Savings Bank here. She has been associated with the institution for 11½ years.

She is a native of Pickaway County and lives with her husband and two daughters in Ashville.

MRS. BURTNER announced that plans for the local campaign are being completed. She said the overall goal has been set at $15 million.

The Institute, being built at San Diego, California, on a site donated by vote of the city residents will be directed by Dr. Jonas Salk. It will provide facilities in which many of the world's most eminent scientists will study the elemental processes of life.

Coming from many different parts of the world, these scientists will be working in a laboratory of life from which can come knowledge and discoveries pointing the way to better health and fuller lives for men, women and children everywhere.

Accepting the appointment to lead the local campaign, Mrs. Burtner said: "In developing the polio vaccine we had a magnificent example of what could be done for health through teamwork between the American people and our scientists."

"This is another great opportunity for us to work shoulder-to-shoulder with Dr. Salk and his colleagues to achieve benefits for mankind that may be of even greater importance than the vaccine."

School Levy Failure To Delay Opening

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Failure of an 8-mill school levy to pass in the primary election is forcing the opening of Warren Twp. schools to be delayed until October for the fall semester, officials announced.

They said the levy would be resubmitted in the November general election, and that failure of the levy to pass at that time would force closing the schools until an operating levy passed.

Japanese-Born Ohioan Denied Adoption Right

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Judge Leonard S. Frost has disapproved the adoption of a little girl by a Cleveland machinist and his Japanese-born wife on the grounds that mixing of races is unwise in adoption.

His ruling is being appealed to Ohio's Eighth District Court of Appeals by the couple, Merl H. Baker, 38; and his wife, Yoshiko, 36.

The Bakers have had custody of the child—Jean, 2½ — since they applied for her adoption through Children's Services, an adoption agency, about 18 months ago.

Baker said he did not understand the judge's ruling because the girl already is of a racial mixture. She was born to a mother of English descent and a Puerto Rican father, who surrendered her to the adoption agency.

The Bakers met while he was in Japan with the U.S. Army following World War II. They were married 12 years ago and are childless. Mrs. Baker is an American citizen.

Judge Frost said in explaining his ruling that he denied the adoption because it might be hard on the girl as she grows up to have a mother of a different race.

"The good Lord created five races," he said, "and if he had intended to have only one he would have done so. It was never intended that the races should be mixed."

Boys, 11 and 14, Admit Cousing Railroad Mishap

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two boys, 11 and 14 years old, have admitted throwing a switch that sent a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train crashing into cars on a siding, killing one crewman and injuring another, railroad police say.

The 13-car train was enroute from West Brownsville to Uniontown when the crash occurred Wednesday.

The youngsters, whose names were withheld, were released in custody of their parents.

School Levy Failure To Delay Opening

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Failure of an 8-mill school levy to pass in the primary election is forcing the opening of Warren Twp. schools to be delayed until October for the fall semester, officials announced.

They said the levy would be resubmitted in the November general election, and that failure of the levy to pass at that time would force closing the schools until an operating levy passed.

Japanese-Born Ohioan Denied Adoption Right

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Judge Leonard S. Frost has disapproved the adoption of a little girl by a Cleveland machinist and his Japanese-born wife on the grounds that mixing of races is unwise in adoption.

His ruling is being appealed to Ohio's Eighth District Court of Appeals by the couple, Merl H. Baker, 38; and his wife, Yoshiko, 36.

The Bakers have had custody of the child—Jean, 2½ — since they applied for her adoption through Children's Services, an adoption agency, about 18 months ago.

Baker said he did not understand the judge's ruling because the girl already is of a racial mixture. She was born to a mother of English descent and a Puerto Rican father, who surrendered her to the adoption agency.

The Bakers met while he was in Japan with the U.S. Army following World War II. They were married 12 years ago and are childless. Mrs. Baker is an American citizen.

Judge Frost said in explaining his ruling that he denied the adoption because it might be hard on the girl as she grows up to have a mother of a different race.

"The good Lord created five races," he said, "and if he had intended to have only one he would have done so. It was never intended that the races should be mixed."

Taxless Pockets Grow Fewer

Monaco is many things for many people. For some it is Monte Carlo, or more correctly, the casino, where the roulette wheels spin and the croupier's voice calls the numbers without the bonhomie of a bingo game.

For others, it is a place where postage stamps are manufactured and exported. For still others it is a harbor where millionaires' luxury yachts ride at anchor.

But perhaps for most people Monaco is the place where a beautiful American film star lives the life of a fairy tale princess.

The present dispute between France and Monaco, which has delayed Princess Grace's start on her new film, will not leap into the world's headlines as another "crisis," or call for a special session of the UN General Assembly, or demand a summit conference. It is just a little quarrel between a giant and a dwarf.

But if Monaco does not show more humanity to its big neighbor, it may lose its independence.

There is no direct taxation in Monaco. This happy state of affairs has attracted French financiers, industrialists and millionaires to register or domicile themselves in the half-mile-square principality. There they can live in taxless bliss, with others from elsewhere in the world.

The French government is growling angrily and Prince Rainier, who has troubles at home — he suspended the constitution in 1959 — now has serious difficulties in his "external affairs department." The French have repudiated the agreement which regulates relations with Monaco.

Tiny taxless pockets grow fewer. There are still San Marino, Andorra, Lichtenstein and some Caribbean islands. But if Monaco loses its independence there will be one less place where poor millionaires can hide from the tax-gatherer's sniffing bloodhounds.

Bound To Happen

Some day it's bound to happen. Those anxious souls who telephone city editors to ask where's the fire, when was the last world's fair, or is Mrs. Roosevelt still living, will phone excitedly again —

"What is that terrible thing that's barking, has wheels, blows out clouds of black smoke and is following the railroad tracks near here?"

They will be told not to fear, that it's a locomotive. Then it will be necessary to explain what a locomotive is, or was.

Sad truth is there are few steam locomotives still in operation on railroads of the United States. So it's only a matter of time when there will be many persons who never saw one in their lives. And if they ever do see one, they'll know why horses threw fits when they saw the first automobile.

However, no one will be able to say the iron horse vanished because he was slow. He set a world speed record for steam trains so long ago that it shames today's craze for streamlining and rocket designs.

It was back in the days when housewives baked their own bread. The Broadway Limited, on the Pennsylvania covered three miles near Ada, O., in 85 seconds — or 127 miles an hour. The date was June 12, 1905.

The record is still hanging after more than half a century. No diesel has ever come close to matching it.

Small Tree Thanks the Sunshine

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—My daughter Tracy, who will be 9 years old next month, looked up from her peanut butter sandwich at my wife Frances and observed:

"You know, you've been a wonderful mother to me over the years."

It was so unexpected that my wife almost sliced off part of her hand instead of the bread.

"What did you say?" she asked. "I said you've been a wonderful mother to me over the years," replied Tracy, calmly taking another bite of sandwich.

"Well, may I ask what brought on that remark?"

"Nothing. I was just thinking," said Tracy, and went outside to ride her bike.

Well, after she had left, my wife didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but the rest of the day she walked to the music of invisible bugles.

Parents are so used to being taken for granted that when a child simply and without self-consciousness states its debt of gratitude they are overwhelmed. It is as if a small tree should suddenly find a voice and thank the sunshine falling on its leaves.

But it is in such offhand moments of reward that one feels how profoundly worthwhile parenthood is.

When Frances later relayed to me the story of our daughter's praise, I had almost a feeling of envy.

"Do you suppose Tracy will ever tell me I've been a wonderful father to her over the years?" I asked.

"Could be," said Frances lightly. "It's a strange world."

In the mutuality of home life a parent can learn a lot from a child. And my observation of my daughter has led me to the conclusion that growing up today is a much more complicated process than it used to be.

Being a child in the old days was comparatively easy. All you had to do was arise before dawn, milk a thousand cows, then swim four miles to school with your baby brother on your back. After studying your ABC's, you swam the four miles back home, this time with your baby brother in your teeth, plowed 187 acres and went to bed.

Nothing to it. It was as simple as that.

But a child today leads such a scheduled life it requires a parent to become a secretary as well as a chauffeur in order to fulfill all the obligations.

It seems to me my daughter never has any time in which to pause and merely be a child. The industry of growing up keeps her endlessly busy.

She merely thinks I'm trying to be funny when I tell her: "Don't be in such a hurry to be an adult. It's more fun to be a child now than later."

But I'm really not joking at all. Every parent probably has a wishful wish for his children to enjoy childhood as long as possible, and to postpone the pain of growing up.

Yet every child eagerly hurries onward to hurt. They can't wait to grow up gradually.

SADDEST PRIZE FIGHT story of the month comes from Red Smith who overheard a battered, about-to-be-knocked-out preliminary fighter gasp to his manager between rounds one and two, "If I had that bum's right hook I'd molder him!"

Overheard at a Hollywood cocktail party: "My husband and I were going to see a horror movie tonight, but we decided to come here instead." And at the same party, two upcoming starlets met for the first time. Asked one, "Are you married?" Answered the other, "I don't know. I was away for the weekend."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

"Sunburn? Can't you see my suntan?"

The tan was merely a brownish stain left by suntan lotion. Such a stain doesn't prevent sunburn.

Certain ultraviolet rays burn, other tan. Like sunglasses, tanning lotions help filter out burning rays. Tanning rays can still get under your skin.

The lotion may stain skin to give you that tan feeling. This boosts morale while you wait for natural coloring.

Tanning lotions can hardly protect against the noonday sun beating down on hot white sands.

Water and sand reflect and magnify every sunbeam. Sunburn resembles any other red first degree burn. Sometimes, blisters break out — second degree!

Certain tranquilizers, thiazide medicines, diabetes pills and antibiotic germ — killers make skin especially sensitive to those burning rays. All the more reason to tiptoe into your suntan.

Don't jump under the sun all at once! You'll last longer if you tan in the weak rays of early morning and late afternoon sunshine.

Clothing protects against reflected rays. No beach umbrella can make that statement!

After soaking up the sun, the outer skin layer thickens into a do-it-yourself sun shield.

Later, special cells, deep beneath the skin, manufacture brown melanin pigment. This pigment drifts toward the surface to tan your hide. Freckles are tiny dots of this same melanin pigment.

Prescriptions of Oxoralen capsules prevent burning and speed tanning. The medicine thickens that outer skin layer and, some time later, whips up melanin pigment production.

Side effects force doctors to reserve Oxoralen for victims of psoriasis and other skin conditions where sunburn ignites a flare-up.

Sun-worshipping may turn out to be a curse. After years, skin that's sun-soaked, weather-beaten and leathery becomes fertile soil for cancer.

Light, blondes and redheads often freckle and burn without tanning. Everyone else winds up with one giant freckle — suntan!

Cooperation Would Help

By George Sokolsky

The near panic in the stock market last week, when stock prices tumbled, was a response to the normal sensitivity of money to safety.

When a stock sells for 20 or 100 times its earnings, it pursues a popular but fallacious course. No mathematical knowledge or business sense justifies such inflation of values, but justification is not convincing anyhow. Many speculators (my friendly term for a calculator) buy not with their brains, although they can show myriads of work papers to make a point.

They buy emotionally. They buy not because they know but because they believe, they have faith. Usually it amounts to someone saying that it is so — and the someone might be — a banker, a broker, an office-boy or a night club.

Money runs where it can make a profit and runs away from where it fears a loss. When big name stocks tumble, nobody ever says that they should tumble because their prices are too high, but rather that confidence is lost in the government, the economy, big business, labor unions or somebody's mistress. The reasons are generally illogical but then all emotion is illogical; otherwise we would call it reason.

The steel situation triggered a fear among businessmen that it is the intention of the President and his brother, the Attorney General, to destroy Big Business. There is no substance to such an assumption because no nation, in the midst of its most serious war, presently called the Cold War, destroys its agencies of production and distribution. If President Kennedy revives the techniques of President Theodore Roosevelt in handling management — labor problems, he is not destroying business; he taught it a lesson in self-discipline which it occasionally needs to learn if it is to survive.

Each man has to use his own methods to attract public attention to a correctable error. The decision is made by the public, not by officials of government or by businessmen. The decision is an imperative; it may go the other way — nevertheless public opinion must and does prevail.

The fact that President Kennedy gave the United States Steel Corporation the back of his hand, as the Irish say, does not mean that he hates the agencies of production and distribution. It merely means that he tells the public that the boys are running wild and need pulling in. He pulled them in.

Businessmen are looking for a scapegoat. They go about saying that it is all the fault of the Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy; that he is extraordinarily brilliant and that he manipulates their destruction.

Stuff and nonsense about manipulations! Bobby is a law enforcement officer. If the businessmen and their lawyers are sure that they have done nothing wrong under the law, they have nothing to fear. Admittedly some laws are obsolescent and require restudy and revision. For instance, in competition with Europeans, Japanese and even Canadian cartels, the company finds itself handicapped. Even more, competitive bidding is often uneconomical. Labor costs are identical; the cost of raw material is identical; taxes are the same; distribution costs are the same; prices will be the same.

Therefore it is unsound for accountants to work out unrealistic bids to prove that there has been no meeting of the minds in restraint of trade as defined by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law (passed in 1890) and subsequently interpreted by the courts and implemented by additional legislation. In 1962, this is unrealistic; nevertheless it is a law and the Attorney General is there to enforce the law. Furthermore, most complaints with regard to this law are made by businessmen who want to gore their competitor's ox, as the saying goes.

The Administration is obviously not for or against Big Business per se. It is for a stable dollar and a progressive economy. Money can be controlled; in a free society, it is difficult to control men. Therefore, to break the pattern of inflation, it is necessary either to shoot for no price increases or no wage increases. To do this without setting up fixed controls is difficult, but safer than the establishment of a locust plague of regulators and co-ordinators. The President's appeal is really of the "Do It Yourself" order.

Business would be smart to be co-operative in this effort to halt inflation. Non-cooperation could mean controls, which the NRA and OPA proved are a painful experience.

Ohioan Faces Prison Term In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Up to 10 years in prison are ahead for Curtis Elmer Crist, a former insurance salesman in Canton, Ohio.

Deliberating only 25 minutes, a U.S. District Court jury found Crist, 42, guilty on five counts of fraud which the government charged ran into millions of dollars.

The defense rested its case without calling any witnesses to refute Asst. U.S. Atty. Lloyd Bates' prosecution during the seven-day trial.

A federal grand jury in Tampa indicted Crist last fall, charging he represented himself as owner and operator of automobile rental agencies throughout the nation, promising huge returns for investors.

Defense attorney Steadman Stahl told the jury, "We do not deny that he got the money." But Stahl insisted the government failed to prove fraud, that there was a lack of evidence that Crist had not indeed invested money in a rental franchise.

The witnesses testified they invested with Crist but failed to get the returns he promised. Bates introduced evidence showing Crist filed no income tax returns for the past two years after reporting $8,000 earnings for 1959. Stahl countered that Crist had a $648,000 income tax judgment against him.

Judge Albert H. Reeves imposed consecutive five-year sentences on two counts and concurrent five-year terms on the other three counts.

$77.9 Million River Budget Said Too Low

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Valley Improvement Association went to bat before a congressional subcommittee for a $3 million expansion of a proposed $77.9 million Ohio River navigation program.

The $77.9 million is the amount the Kennedy administration has budgeted for projects on the Ohio next year. But the Ohio Valley group told the House Appropriations Committee's public works subcommittee that work must be speeded. If it isn't, association spokesmen said, "strangulation of Ohio River traffic growth" is a possibility.

Congressmen from Ohio (Reps. William H. Harsha, R; Walter H. Moeller, D, and Tom V. Moorehead, R), West Virginia and Kentucky districts along the Ohio supported the association testimony. Witnesses included the association's president, John L. Persen, and the chairman of its legislative committee, William J. Hull.

Included in the association's request for increases were these Ohio projects (Kennedy budget all locations in parentheses):

Preconstruction planning—Hannibal locks and dam $200,000; ($100,000); Racine locks and dam $750,000 ($200,000).

To continue construction—Bellefonte locks and dam $4.1 million ($3.2 million).

Meanwhile, several Ohio congressmen, as planned, urged appropriations for water projects in their own districts. They included Republicans Harsha, John Ashbrook, Charles A. Mosher and William E. Minshall and Democrat Charles A. Vanik.

Army engineers also testified on proposed flood control projects, on which the subcommittee will act later, including one in Ohio involving construction of a North Branch reservoir in the Kokosing River basin 2.2 miles upstream from Fredericktown and some channel clearing work. Federal cost would be $2,438,000; local cost $133,000.

Taxless Pockets Grow Fewer

Monaco is many things for many people. For some it is Monte Carlo, or more correctly, the casino, where the roulette wheels spin and the croupier's voice calls the numbers without the bonhomie of a bingo game.

For others, it is a place where postage stamps are manufactured and exported. For still others it is a harbor where millionaires' luxury yachts ride at anchor.

But perhaps for most people Monaco is the place where a beautiful American film star lives the life of a fairy tale princess.

The present dispute between France and Monaco, which has delayed Princess Grace's start on her new film, will not leap into the world's headlines as another "crisis," or call for a special session of the UN General Assembly, or demand a summit conference. It is just a little quarrel between a giant and a dwarf.

But if Monaco does not show more hutility to its big neighbor, it may lose its independence.

There is no direct taxation in Monaco. This happy state of affairs has attracted French financiers, industrialists and millionaires to register or domicile themselves in the half-mile-square principality. There they can live in taxless bliss, with others from elsewhere in the world.

The French government is growling angrily and Prince Rainier, who has troubles at home — he suspended the constitution in 1959 — now has serious difficulties in his "external affairs department." The French have repudiated the agreement which regulates relations with Monaco.

Tiny taxless pockets grow fewer. There are still San Marino, Andorra, Lichtenstein and some Caribbean islands. But if Monaco loses its independence there will be one less place where poor millionaires can hide from the tax-gatherer's sniffing bloodhounds.

Bound To Happen

Some day it's bound to happen. Those anxious souls who telephone city editors to ask where's the fire, when was the last world's fair, or is Mrs. Roosevelt still living, will phone excitedly again —

"What is that terrible thing that's barking, has wheels, blows out clouds of black smoke and is following the railroad tracks near here?"

They will be told not to fear, that it's a locomotive. Then it will be necessary to explain what a locomotive is, or was.

Sad truth is there are few steam locomotives still in operation on railroads of the United States. So it's only a matter of time when there will be many persons who never saw one in their lives. And if they ever do see one, they'll know why horses threw fits when they saw the first automobile.

However, no one will be able to say the iron horse vanished because he was slow.

He set a world speed record for steam trains so long ago that it shames today's craze for streamlining and rocket designs.

It was back in the days when housewives baked their own bread. The Broadway Limited, on the Pennsylvania covered three miles near Ada, O., in 85 seconds — or 127 miles an hour. The date was June 12, 1905.

The record is still hanging after more than half a century. No diesel has ever come close to matching it.

Small Tree Thanks the Sunshine

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—My daughter Tracy, who will be 9 years old next month, looked up from her peanut butter sandwich at my wife Frances and observed:

"You know, you've been a wonderful mother to me over the years."

It was so unexpected that my wife almost sliced off part of her hand instead of the bread.

"What did you say?" she asked. "I said you've been a wonderful mother to me over the years," replied Tracy, calmly taking another bite of sandwich.

"Well, may I ask what brought on that remark?"

"Nothing. I was just thinking," said Tracy, and went outside to ride her bike.

Well, after she had left, my wife didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but the rest of the day she walked to the music of invisible bugles.

Parents are so used to being taken for granted that when a child simply and without self-consciousness states its debt of gratitude they are overwhelmed. It is as if a small tree should suddenly find a voice and thank the sunshine falling on its leaves.

But it is in such offhand moments of reward that one feels how profoundly worthwhile parenthood is.

When Frances later relayed to me the story of our daughter's praise, I had almost a feeling of envy.

"Do you suppose Tracy will ever tell me I've been a wonderful father to her over the years?" I asked.

"Could be," said Frances lightly. "It's a strange world."

In the mutuality of home life a parent can learn a lot from a child. And my observation of my daughter has led me to the conclusion that growing up today is a much more complicated process than it used to be.

Being a child in the old days was comparatively easy. All you had to do was arise before dawn, milk a thousand cows, then swim four miles to school with your baby brother on your back. After studying your ABC's, you swam the four miles back home, this time with your baby brother in your teeth, plowed 187 acres and went to bed.

Nothing to it. It was as simple as that.

But a child today leads such a scheduled life it requires a parent to become a secretary as well as a chauffeur in order to fulfill all the obligations.

It seems to me my daughter never has any time in which to pause and merely be a child. The industry of growing up keeps her endlessly busy.

She merely thinks I'm trying to be funny when I tell her: "Don't be in such a hurry to be an adult. It's more fun to be a child now than later."

But I'm really not joking at all. Every parent probably has a wishful wish for his children to enjoy childhood as long as possible, and to postpone the pain of growing up.

Yet every child eagerly hurtles onward to hurt. They can't wait to grow up gradually.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SADDEST PRIZE FIGHT story of the month comes from Red Smith who overheard a battered, about-to-be-knocked-out preliminary fighter gasp to his manager between rounds one and two, "If I had that bum's right hook I'd moider him!"

Overheard at a Hollywood cocktail party: "My husband and I were going to see a horror movie tonight, but we decided to come here instead."

And at the same party, two upcoming starlets met for the first time. Asked one, "Are you married?" Answered the other, "I don't know. I was away for the weekend."

"Sunburn? Can't you see my suntan?"

The tan was merely a brownish stain left by suntan lotion. Such a stain doesn't prevent sunburn.

Certain ultraviolet rays burn, other tan. Like sunglasses, tanning lotions help filter out burning rays. Tanning rays can still get under your skin.

The lotion may stain skin to give you that tan feeling. This boosts morale while you wait for natural coloring.

Tanning lotions can hardly protect against the noonday sun beating down on hot white sands.

Water and sand reflect and magnify every sunbeam. Sunburn resembles any other red first degree burn. Sometimes, blisters break out — second degree!

Certain tranquilizers, thiazide medicines, diabetes pills and antibiotic germ — killers make skin especially sensitive to those burning rays. All the more reason to tiptoe into your suntan.

Don't jump under the sun all at once! You'll last longer if you tan in the weak rays of early morning and late afternoon sunshine.

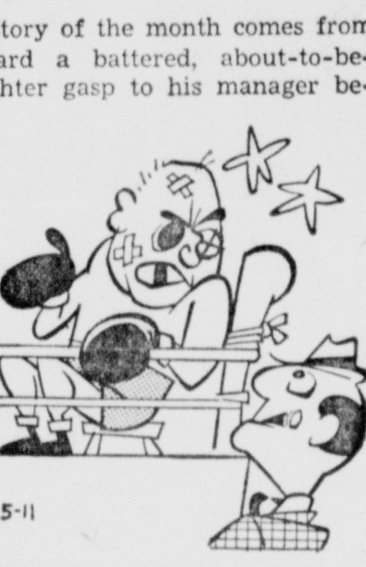

Clothing protects against reflected rays. No beach umbrella can make that statement!

After soaking up the sun, the outer skin layer thickens into a do-it-yourself sun shield.

Later, special cells, deep beneath the skin, manufacture brown melanin pigment. This pigment drifts toward the surface to tan your hide. Freckles are tiny dots of this same melanin pigment.

Prescriptions of Oxoralen capsules prevent burning and speed tanning. The medicine thickens that outer skin layer and, some time later, whips up melanin pigment production.

Side effects force doctors to reserve Oxoralen for victims of psoriasis and other skin conditions where sunburn ignites a flare-up.

Cooperation Would Help

By George Sokolsky

The near panic in the stock market last week, when stock prices tumbled, was a response to the normal sensitivity of money to safety.

When a stock sells for 20 or 100 times its earnings, it pursues a popular but fallacious course. No mathematical knowledge or business sense justifies such inflation of values, but justification is not convincing anyhow. Many calculators (my friendly term for a speculator) buy not with their brains, although they can show myriads of work papers to make a point.

They buy emotionally. They buy not because they know but because they believe, they have faith. Usually it amounts to someone saying that it is so — and the someone might be — a banker, a broker, an office-boy a columnist or the cigarette girl in a night club.

Money runs where it can make a profit and runs away from where it fears a loss. When big name stocks tumble, nobody ever says that they should tumble because their prices are too high, but rather that confidence is lost in the government, the economy, big business, labor unions or somebody's mistress. The reasons are generally illogical but then all emotion is illogical; otherwise we would call it reason.

The steel situation triggered a fear among businessmen that it is the intention of the President and his brother, the Attorney General, to destroy Big Business. There is no substance to such an assumption because no nation, in the midst of its most serious war, presently called the Cold War, destroys its agencies of production and distribution. If President Kennedy revives the techniques of President Theodore Roosevelt in handling management - labor problems, he is not destroying business; he is teaching a lesson in self-discipline which it occasionally needs to learn if it is to survive.

Each man has to use his own methods to attract public attention to a correctable error. The decision is made by the public, not by officials of government or by businessmen. The decision is an imponderable; it may go the other way — nevertheless public opinion must and does prevail.

The fact that President Kennedy gave the United States Steel Corporation the back of his hand, as he Irish say, does not mean that he hates the agencies of production and distribution. It merely means that he tells the public that the boys are running wild and need pulling in. He pulled them in.

Businessmen are looking for a scapegoat. They go about saying that it is all the fault of the Attorney General, Bobby Kennedy; that he is extraordinarily brilliant and that he manipulates their destruction.

Stuff and nonsense about manipulations! Bobby is a law enforcement officer. If the businessmen and their lawyers are sure that they have done nothing wrong under the law, they have nothing to fear. Admittedly some laws are obsolescent and require restudy and revision. For instance, in competition with Europeans, Japanese and even Canadian cartels, the company finds itself handicapped. Even more, competitive bidding is often uneconomical. Labor costs are identical; the cost of raw material is identical; taxes are the same; distribution costs are the same; prices will be the same.

Therefore it is unsound for accountants to work out unrealistic bids to prove that there has been no meeting of the minds in restraint of trade as defined by the Sherman Anti-Trust Law (passed in 1890) and subsequently interpreted by the courts and implemented by additional legislation. In 1962, this is unrealistic; nevertheless it is a law and the Attorney General is there to enforce the law. Furthermore, most complaints with regard to this law are made by businessmen who want to gore their competitor's ox, as the saying goes.

The Administration is obviously not for or against Big Business per se. It is for a stable dollar and a progressive economy. Money can be controlled; in a free society, it is difficult to control men. Therefore, to break the pattern of inflation, it is necessary either to shoot for no price increases or no wage increases. To do this without setting up fixed controls is difficult, but safer than the establishment of a locust plague of regulators and co-ordinators. The President's appeal is really of the "Do It Yourself" order.

Business would be smart to be co-operative in this effort to halt inflation. Non-cooperation could mean controls, which the NRA and OPA proved are a painful experience.

Ohioan Faces Prison Term In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Up to 10 years in prison are ahead for Curtis Elmer Crist, a former insurance salesman in Canton, Ohio.

Deliberating only 25 minutes, a U.S. District Court jury found Crist, 42, guilty on five counts of fraud which the government charged ran into millions of dollars.

The defense rested its case without calling any witnesses to refute Asst. U.S. Atty. Lloyd Bates' prosecution during the seven-day trial.

A federal grand jury in Tampa indicted Crist last fall, charging he represented himself as owner and operator of automobile rental agencies throughout the nation, promising huge returns for investors.

Defense attorney Steadman Stahl told the jury, "We do not deny that he got the money." But Stahl insisted the government failed to prove fraud, that there was a lack of evidence that Crist had not indeed invested money in a rental franchise.

The witnesses testified they invested with Crist but failed to get the returns he promised. Bates introduced evidence showing Crist filed no income tax returns for the past two years after reporting $8,000 earnings for 1959. Stahl countered that Crist had a $648,000 income tax judgment against him.

Judge Albert H. Reeves imposed consecutive five-year sentences on two counts and concurrent five-year terms on the other three counts.

The original Sherwood Forest covered 200 square miles of woods, glades, open heath and wasteland, with scattered hamlets, abbeys and priories.

Monrovia Garden Club Unit Holds Meet in Groveport

Members of the Monrovia Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Frank E. Smith, Groveport, for their May meeting.

Mrs. Clyde Michel, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Loring Stoeer gave the devotion using the theme the sowing of the seed.

Twenty members answered roll call by naming their favorite rose. Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mrs. Raymond Grabill gave their reports. An invitation was read from the Groveport Garden Club to their Open Meeting, 8 p. m., June 5, in the Groveport Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Harry Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, announced that the flowers will be delivered May 21 at the home of Mrs. Bruce Cochran. An announcement was made of the school of instruction to be held May 24 at the Wagnalls Memorial, Lithopolis.

The group voted to cancel the flower show scheduled for June and have it in September instead.

Mrs. Charles Fleming gave a report of the regional meeting held last Saturday at the 4-H Grange building at the fairgrounds.

Mrs. John O'Day, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following slate of officers: Mrs. Clyde Michel, president; Mrs. Loring Stoeer, vice president; Mrs. Everett Grabill, sec. vice president; Mrs. Clark McCafferty, secretary; Mrs. Raymond Grabill, treasurer; Mrs. Everett Grabill, assistant treasurer.

The club is invited to the "Open Gate" Garden flower show June 6 at the Newport Church.

Mrs. Ernest Sheets gave a report of her trip to Florida this past winter.

Mrs. Michel conducted a contest "The Flower Story." Mrs. Clark McCafferty received the prize for the most correct answers.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Smith assisted by Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Charles Fleming.

Mrs. Shirley Anderson and Mrs. Clark McCafferty will appear on radio, WCHO, at 11 a. m. May 16 on a "Date With Marion." Their topic will be planting annuals.

Mrs. Layton Presides at Class Meeting

The Crusader Class of Calvary EUB Church met in the church basement with nine members and six children present.

Mrs. Donald Layton, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Dale DeLong led devotion, stressing Christian Family Week. She also spoke on "The Value of One" using several parables to emphasize her talk.

Each member was urged to go to the polls and vote. Living a good Christian life is one strike against Communism.

The class will soon have another shipment of vanilla for sale, it was announced.

A thank you card was read from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerlach.

Instead of regular dues a free will offering was taken for the month. A discussion was held regarding events to attend in the next few months. Included are a trip to see the Columbus Jets ball game and an outing at Camp Otterbein.

Mrs. DeLong gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willis Flowers and Mrs. Donald Layton.

Mrs. Bennett Hosts Circle 1 Meeting

Circle No. 1 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Knollwood Village. There were 14 members and two guests present.

Mrs. Harold Stansbury, chairman, opened the meeting with a prayer. Announcement was made of the breakfast to be held for members of the WSCS June 20. The School of Missions will be held at Ohio Wesleyan University during the week of June 18.

Mrs. Sam Elsea gave Devotions using the 23rd Psalm and a condensed sermon by John Paul.

Mrs. C. O. Schweitzer, in charge of the program, talked on "Churches."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bennett assisted by Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. David Cherrington and Miss Beverly Southward.

Mrs. H. N. Stevenson Speaks At Old Trails Chapter Meet

Twenty-eight members and three guests from Circleville, Columbus, Lancaster and Ashville were present for the annual May luncheon meeting of "Old Trails Chapter, Daughters of the American Colonists." Columbus when the chapter met at the Pickaway Arms at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Following the luncheon, the meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. J. Neil Thompson, Lancaster. She extended a welcome to all attending. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was given in unison.

Highlight of the meeting was the guest speaker, Mrs. H. Newell Stevenson.

Mrs. Raymond Trubee, chaplain, held a fitting memorial in memory of Mrs. Ruth Carstarphen, a deceased member. Mrs. Carstarphen's National number was 5817 and her chapter number 104. She served on the National Flag and Patriotic committees, the Golden Acon committee and on the Social and Veterans Hospital committee.

Mrs. Martin Cromley, chairman of the hostess committee, introduced Mrs. Stevenson. Her topic was "Ladies of the Confederacy."

In starting her talk, Mrs. Stevenson told many instances of the Civil War, taken from diaries, magazines and newspaper articles, and stated many dates. She continued by saying, "It is my hope that you have not yet reached a saturation point at which you may feel that you have heard as much about the Civil War as you care to know."

In a recent editorial it was stated that Allan Morris, a leading American Historian, thinks the Civil War Centennial is being overdone, particularly in the field of the printed word. He said, "The sigh of relief that went up over the real appamotax, in 1865 may be nothing to the national sigh of relief that will go up over the commemorated Appamotax of 1965."

Mrs. Stevenson said the editorial ended, however, with the hope that the reaction may not go so far that really significant milestones in the conflict such as the anniversaries of major battle, the Gettysburg address and the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation may be slighted as to general observance.

She concluded by saying we should preserve the patriotic and inspirational values inherent in the centennial of the greatest single crisis in our National life.

She also told of the part played by the Southern Ladies in the inauguration of the Confederate war their share in sustaining the Confederate armies and in keeping alive the economic life of a war-torn and a blockaded country, their social pleasures, their anguish and suffering and their experiences during the final months of the war.

At the conclusion of the program, the reports of the secretary and treasurer were given, along with reports of the chapter officers and chapter chairman.

In another report Mrs. Griffiths said our crisis today is to save the Nation. She said we celebrated the 100 anniversary of the Civil War which was fought to save the Union, and now 100 years later we must fight to save our own United States and to preserve our Constitution.

She said the United Nations was formed in 1945 as a means to protect our country and keep us out of war and bring peace. She claimed this has not been done due to the fact that the Russians have the power to veto in all matters, and to gain more power which is dangerous to our Nation.

In conclusion, Mrs. Griffiths asked all members to write their Congressman to vote against the U. N. Bond bill.

Mrs. John Graham, chairman of the Social Service and Veterans Hospital committee, reported that 210 hours had been spent at the Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe. She added that all members have given their time to the Blood Bank.

Mrs. Calvin C. Lyon, a delegate to the State Conference held at the Neil House, Columbus, March 26-27, gave her report on this conference. Mrs. Dale Rapp, delegate to the National Assembly, held in Washington, D. C. in April, also reported.

Following the reports of the delegates the meeting was adjourned. Hostesses were Mrs. Martin Cromley, chairman, Mrs. J. B. Cromley, Mrs. Howard Evans, Mrs. T. L. Cromley, Mrs. Hewitt Cromley, and Mrs. W. L. Mack.

Calvary EUB Church Scene Of Mother-Daughter Fete

Approximately 95 members and guests were present at the Mother-Daughter Banquet Tuesday in the annex of Calvary EUB Church.

The event was sponsored by the Christian Social Relation Committee of the WSCS. The dinner was served by men of the church.

A white and lavender color scheme was used for the table decorations. The small tables were centered with lavender candles surrounded by artificial flowers from which an arrow pointed. Each centerpiece was given to the guest to which the arrow pointed. The favors were individual ivy plants.

Mrs. A. W. Goeller, president, welcomed the members and guests.

Mrs. Harry Betz was in charge of the program. A program book of lavender and gold was given to each guest.

The group sang "Pledge of Love." Devotions were given by Mrs. Harry Betz.

Mrs. Richard Pettit sang two solos. Mrs. Clariol Sykes presented a piano solo. Mrs. Dale DeLong

Dear Abby: Opinions About Pictures

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You sure started something in this office when you ran that letter from a reader who asked what you thought about an executive who cluttered his office desk with pictures of his family. Although you said it was perfectly okay, the day after your article appeared my boss got such a ribbing he took his pictures home.

GIRL FRIDAY

DEAR ABBY: You goofed! In your opinion (and we took a pool in an office of 12 girls and 2 men) an office desk is no place for pictures of the wife and kiddies. When a man is at work he should carry "pictures" of family in his mind. If he has to have their smiling faces trained on him all day long to remember what they look like, heaven help him. And them, too.

THE 4TH FLOOR GANG

DEAR ABBY: I am a nurse. The doctor for whom I work told me that he kept plenty of pictures of his wife and children on his desk as a constant reminder to some of his patients that he is a family man. He is an OB and lots of women get some strange ideas about their doctors.

DOCTOR'S NURSE

DEAR ABBY: An executive's life should be divided into distinct parts—his home and his office. A man should not have photographs of his "family" in his place of business. Neither should he have pictures of his office employees in his home.

ALL BUSINESS

DEAR ABBY: You say it is all right for an executive to have pictures of his wife and family on exhibition at his office. I'll bet YOU don't have pictures of YOUR husband and children all over YOUR office.

"SNOOPY"

DEAR SNOOPY: I'll bet I have!

DEAR ABBY: In regard to pictures on desks: Your philosophy is good but I disagree. My husband adores his family, but he will NOT put our pictures on his desk. A good executive's wife should accept her husband's judgement pertaining to his work. After all, anyone who visits his desk daily surely knows whether or not he is proud of his family.

AN EXECUTIVE'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: For my part, pic-

Monrovia Garden Club Unit Holds Meet in Groveport

Members of the Monrovia Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Frank E. Smith, Groveport, for their May meeting.

Mrs. Clyde Michel, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Loring Stoeber gave the devotion using the theme of the sowing of the seed.

Twenty members answered roll call by naming their favorite rose. Mrs. Clark McCafferty and Mrs. Raymond Grabill gave their reports. An invitation was read from the Groveport Garden Club to their Open Meeting, 8 p. m., June 5, in the Groveport Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Harry Smith, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, announced that the flowers will be delivered May 21 at the home of Mrs. Bruce Cochran. An announcement was made of the school of instruction to be held May 24 at the Wagnalls Memorial, Lithopolis.

The group voted to cancel the flower show scheduled for June and have it in September instead.

Mrs. Charles Fleming gave a report of the regional meeting held last Saturday at the 4-H Grange building at the fairgrounds.

Mrs. John O'Day, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following slate of officers: Mrs. Clyde Michel, president; Mrs. Loring Stoeber, vice president; Mrs. Everett Grabill, sec. vice president; Mrs. Clark McCafferty, secretary; Mrs. Raymond Grabill, treasurer; Mrs. Everett Grabill, assistant treasurer.

The club is invited to the "Open Gate" Garden flower show June 6 at the Newport Church.

Mrs. Ernest Sheets gave a report of her trip to Florida this past winter.

Mrs. Michel conducted a contest "The Flower Story." Mrs. Clark McCafferty received the prize for the most correct answers.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank Smith assisted by Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Charles Fleming.

Mrs. Shirley Anderson and Mrs. Clark McCafferty will appear on radio, WCHO, at 11 a. m. May 16 on a "Date With Marion." Their topic will be planting annuals.

Mrs. Layton Presides at Class Meeting

The Crusader Class of Calvary EUB Church met in the church basement with nine members and six children present.

Mrs. Donald Layton, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Dale DeLong led devotions, stressing Christian Family Week. She also spoke on "The Value of One" using several parables to emphasize her talk.

Each member was urged to go to the polls and vote. Living a good Christian life is one strike against Communism.

The class will soon have another shipment of vanilla for sale, it was announced.

A thank you card was read from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerlach.

Instead of regular dues a free will offering was taken for the month. A discussion was held regarding events to attend in the next few months. Included are a trip to see the Columbus Jets ballgame and an outing at Camp Otterbein.

Mrs. DeLong gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willis Flowers and Mrs. Donald Layton.

Mrs. Bennett Hosts Circle 1 Meeting

Circle No. 1 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Knollwood Village. There were 14 members and two guests present.

Mrs. Harold Stansbury, chairman, opened the meeting with a prayer. Announcement was made of the breakfast to be held for members of the WSCS June 20. The School of Missions will be held at Ohio Wesleyan University during the week of June 18.

Mrs. Sam Elsea gave Devotions using the 23rd Psalm and a condensed sermon by John Paul.

Mrs. C. O. Schweizer, in charge of the program, talked on "Churches."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bennett assisted by Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. David Cherrington and Miss Beverly Southward.

Local Baha'i Group
Lists Weekly Thought

The local Baha'i Faith group will stress this thought for the week:

"The divine religions of the holy manifestations of God are in reality one, though in name and nomenclature they differ. Man must be a lover of the light, no matter from what dawning it may appear. He must be a seeker of the truth, no matter from what source it come".

Nixon Girl Wins
While Handicapped

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Richard M. Nixon's daughter, Julie, almost got batted out of the running for ninth grade vice president.

Julie, 14, was watching a softball game at the private girls' school she attends when the batter swung wildly and hit her in the head. A doctor ordered her to spend the week in bed.

But Julie, nursing a lump on the head and two black eyes, refused to be counted out of the election. She wrote her campaign speech at home and had a chum, Diane Brewer, read the talk at school Wednesday.

The ninth graders promptly elected Julie vice president.

Julie is the younger of Nixon's two teen-age daughters.

Secure in LOVE

Kathy is secure in her mother's love. Trust and peace gleam in her eyes. Happiness and hope shine in her face.

But Kathy has her heartaches. She falls and skins her knee. Or she loses her favorite dolly. And then her eyes are flooded with tears.

Mommy is always there to help. The knee is bandaged and kissed. The dolly is found. As Mommy's arm slips around Kathy, the tears are dried.

Kathy is secure in her mother's love.

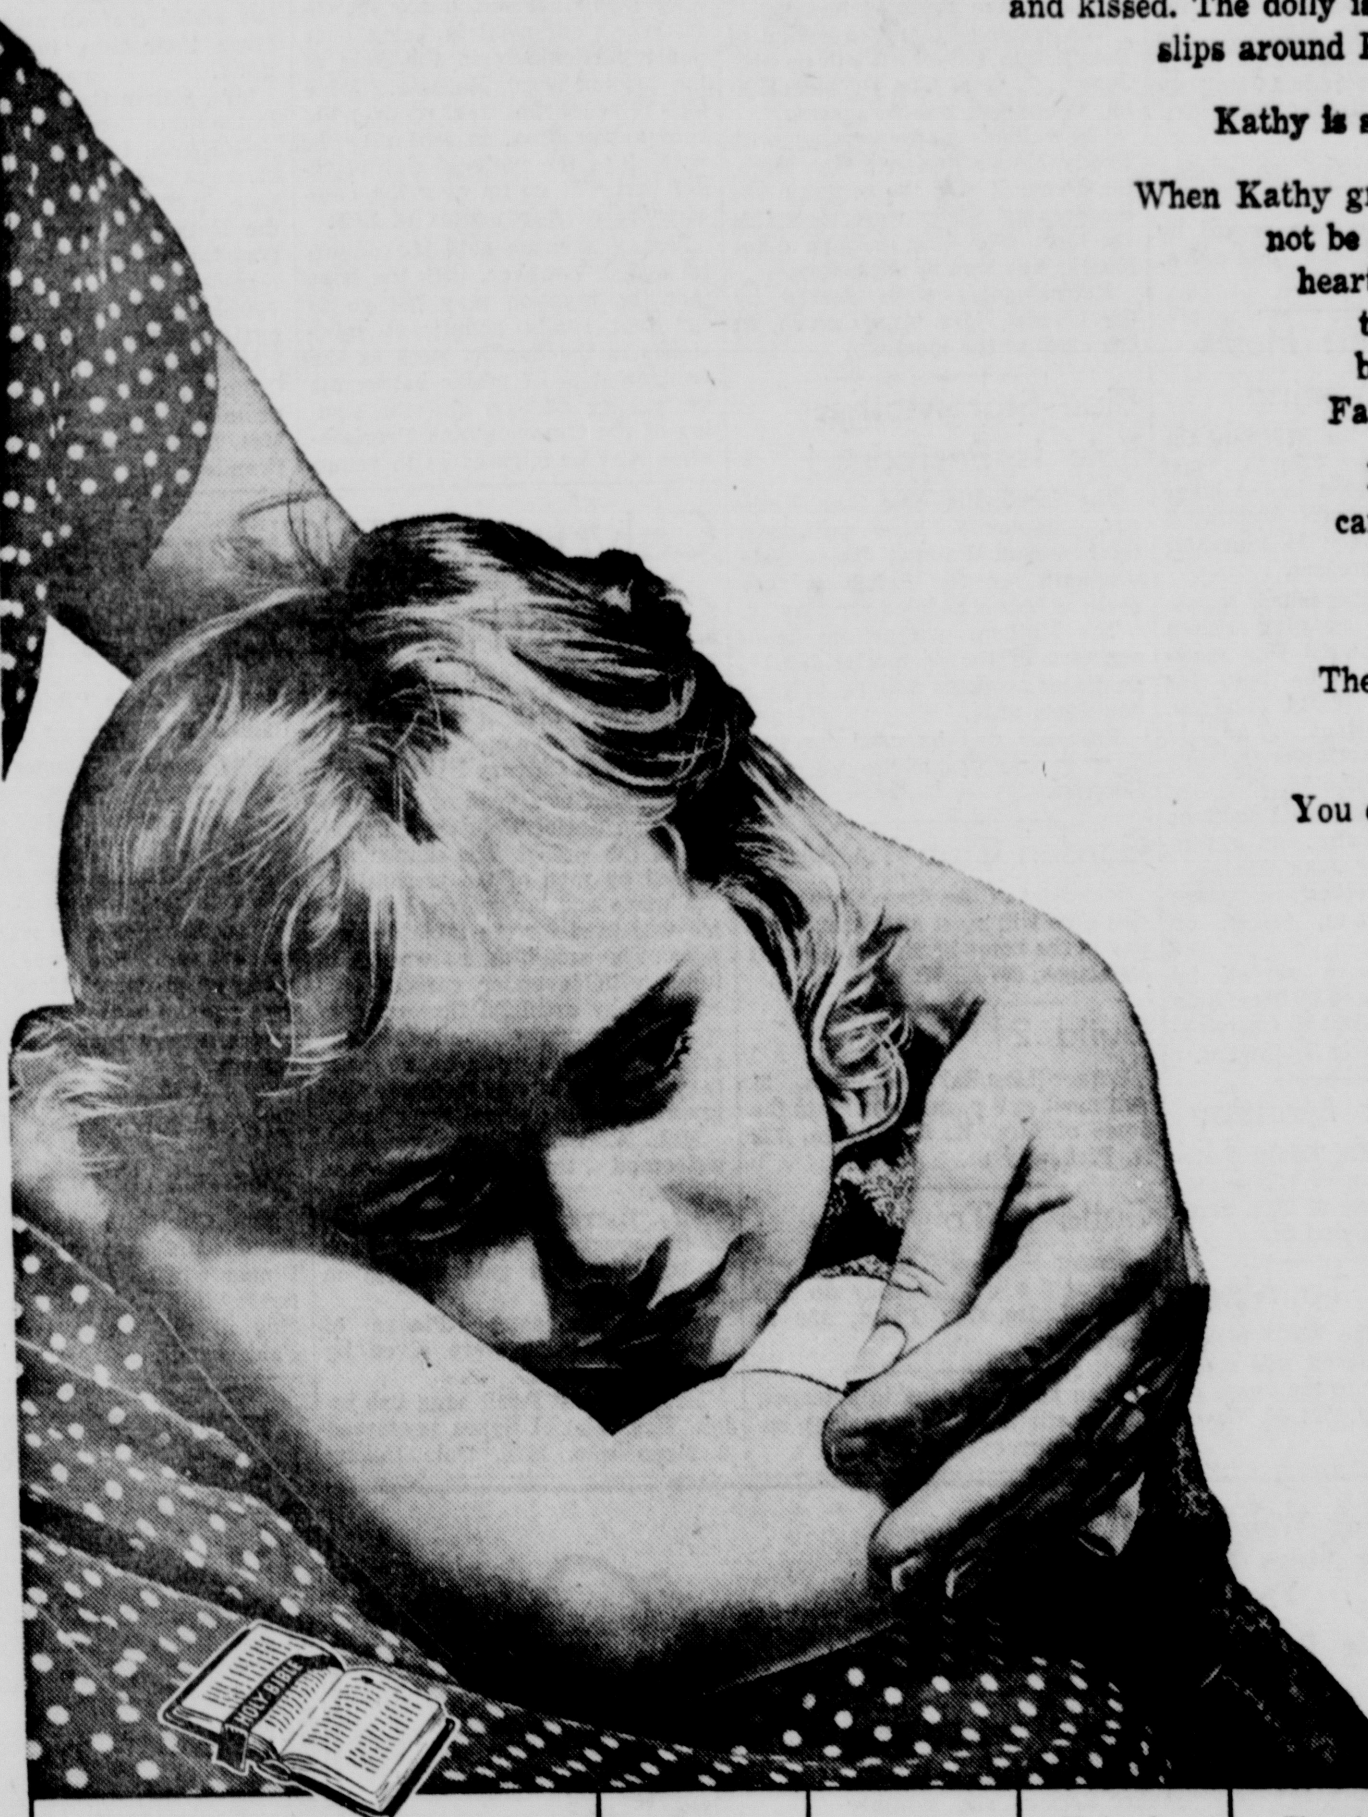

When Kathy grows older her mother will not be able to love away the adult heartaches. But Kathy can turn to God. Her mother's love is but an echo of the Heavenly Father's love for His children.

In faith and prayer, Kathy can find His all-sufficient help and feel beneath her His Everlasting Arms.

The Church guides you to God. You can discover your destiny as His child. You can be secure in divine love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church of God

The Circleville Church of God, Route 2, will observe Mother's Day by giving every mother present a small gift.

The pastor, R. J. Varnell, and Sunday School Superintendent, Eddie Combs, announce that the Sunday School is participating in a nationwide Loyalty Campaign and that mothers are being honored on this family day of the campaign. Sunday School begins at 9:45 a. m. and morning worship at 11 a. m.

Pilgrim Church

Special services will be held Sunday morning at the Pilgrim Church in honor of mothers. Each mother present will receive a small gift. The oldest, youngest, and the mother with the largest number of her family in attendance will receive a flower.

Sunday School will begin at 9:30 a. m. and there is a class for all ages. A group of young people will bring a message in song entitled, "Tell Mother I Will Be There." This will be followed by a message by the Rev. Alonzo Hill, pastor. His text will be based upon the scripture found in 1 Sam. 1:27-28. The thought being, "Mother's Prayers".

Local Baha'i Group
Lists Weekly Thought

The local Baha'i Faith group will stress this thought for the week:

"The divine religions of the holy manifestations of God are in reality one, though in name and nonenclature they differ. Man must be a lover of the light, no matter from what day spring it may appear. He must be a seeker of the truth, no matter from what source it come."

Nixon Girl Wins
While Handicapped

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Richard M. Nixon's daughter, Julie, almost got battered out of the running for ninth grade vice president.

Julie, 14, was watching a softball game at the private girls' school she attends when the batter swung wildly and hit her in the head. A doctor ordered her to spend the week in bed.

But Julie, nursing a lump on the head and two black eyes, refused to be counted out of the election. She wrote her campaign speech at home and had a chum, Diane Brewer, read the talk at school Wednesday.

The ninth graders promptly elected Julie vice president.

Julie is the younger of Nixon's two teen-age daughters.

Secure in LOVE

Kathy is secure in her mother's love. Trust and peace gleam in her eyes. Happiness and hope shine in her face.

But Kathy has her heartaches. She falls and skins her knee. Or she loses her favorite dolly. And then her eyes are flooded with tears.

Mommy is always there to help. The knee is bandaged and kissed. The dolly is found. As Mommy's arm slips around Kathy, the tears are dried.

Kathy is secure in her mother's love.

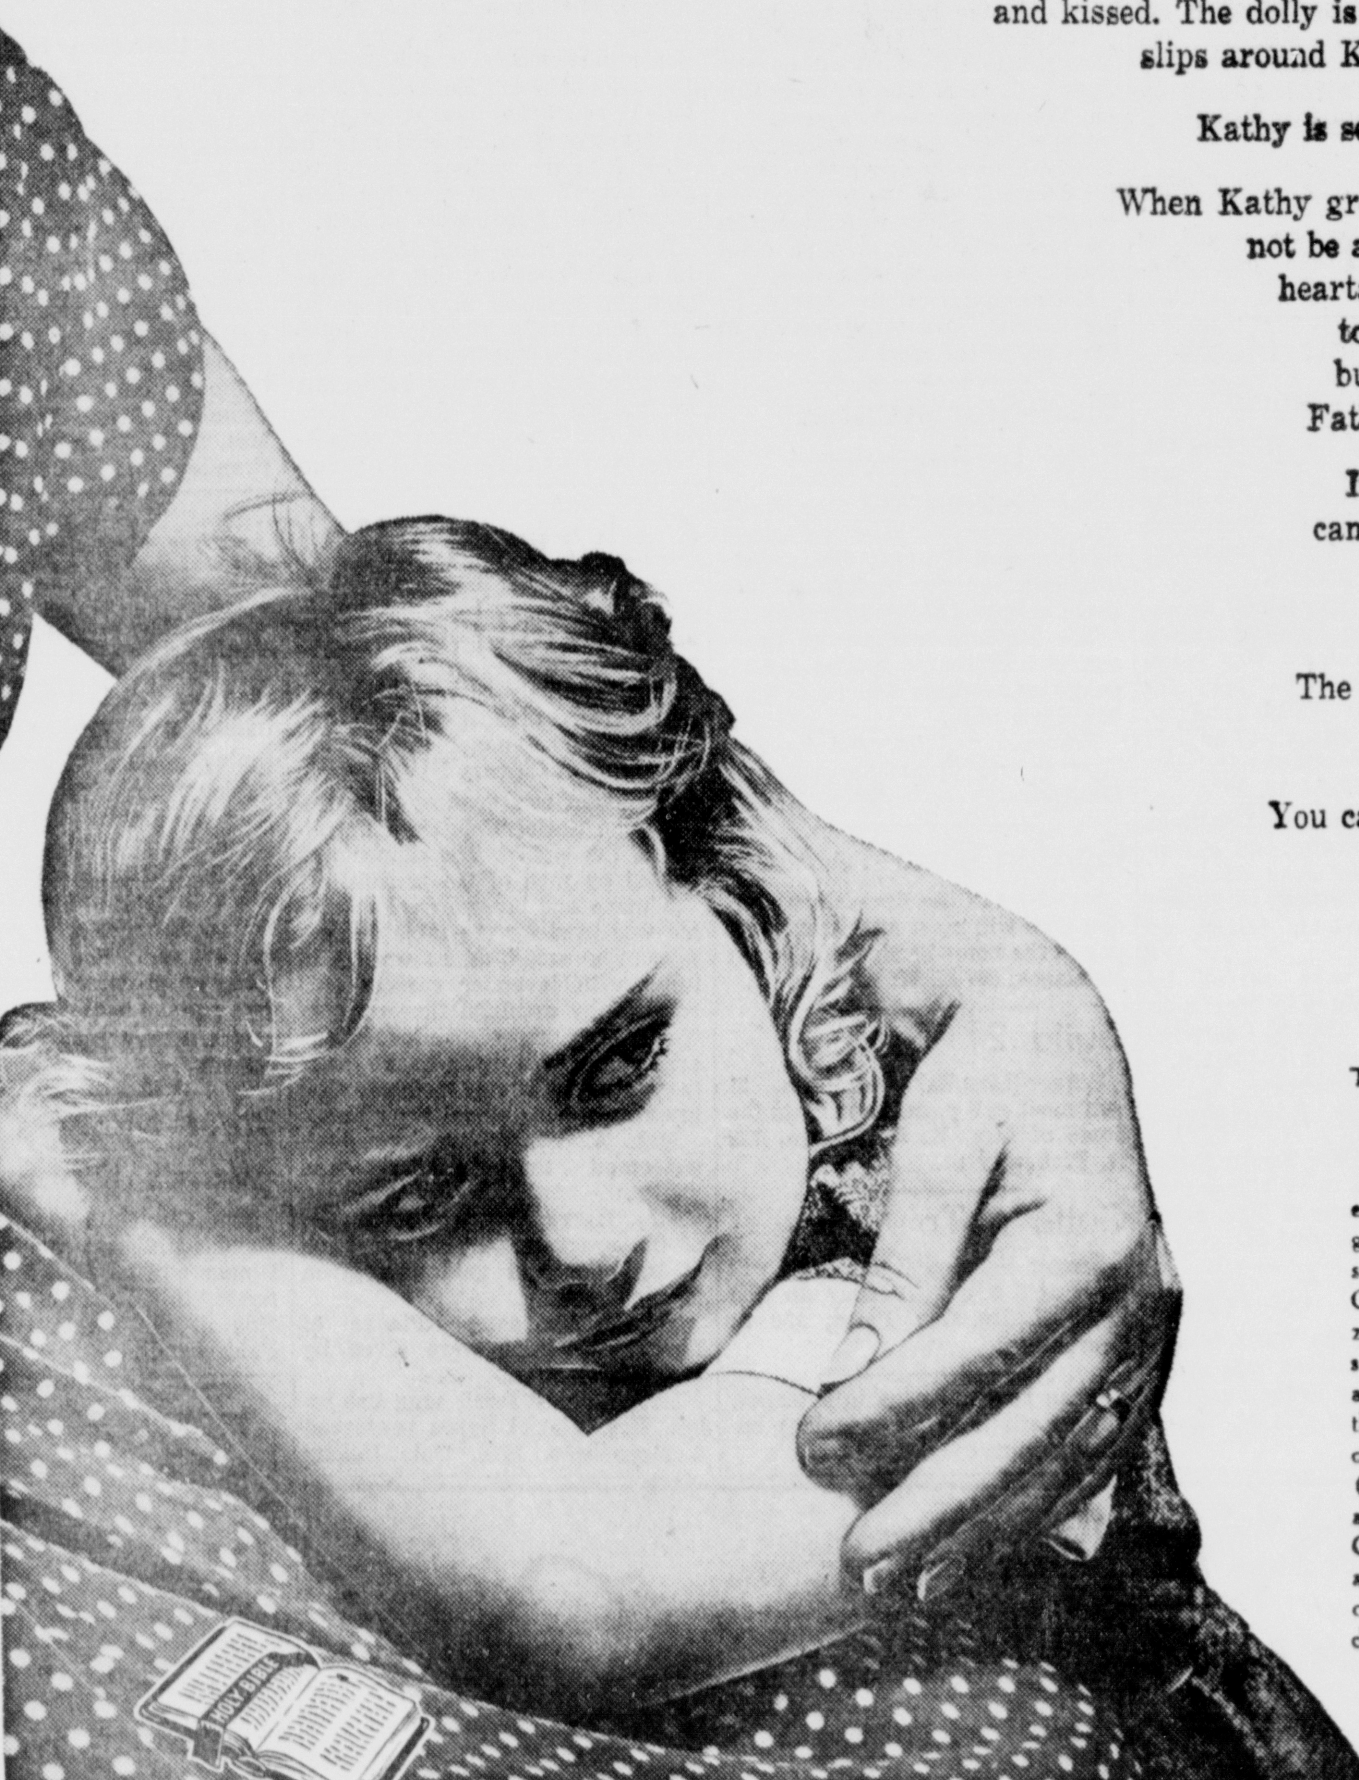

When Kathy grows older her mother will not be able to love away the adult heartaches. But Kathy can turn to God. Her mother's love is but an echo of the Heavenly Father's love for His children.

In faith and prayer, Kathy can find His all-sufficient help and feel beneath her His Everlasting Arms.

The Church guides you to God. You can discover your destiny as His child. You can be secure in divine love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Suffering for Christ's Sake

HOW WE MAY LIVE VICTORIOUSLY EVEN WHEN COMPELLED TO SUFFER FOR CHRIST'S SAKE.

Scripture—Acts 12:1-5; 1 Peter 4:1-5:14

By N. SPEER JONES
AGAIN THIS WEEK our letter of "faith, counsel and courage" is the so-called First Epistle of Peter, and it draws much of its inspiration from Peter's own early experiences.

The experience cited in our lesson probably occurred in 44 A.D., 14 years after Christ's resurrection. At that time the ruler in Judea was Herod Agrippa I. He was a grandson of Herod the Great, infamous in Biblical history for his massacre of the babes of Bethlehem. Herod Agrippa was the son of Aristobulus, and the nephew of Herod Antipas (son of Herod the Great), who put to death John the Baptist for his criticism of his marriage to Herodias, wife of his half-brother.

Herod Agrippa was brought up in Rome in extravagance until his debts forced his return to his homeland, Idumea, or Edom, a country south of Palestine. Through his friendship with the Emperor Caligula he enlarged his domains to include those of his uncle, who had been exiled, and when Claudius ascended the throne in 41, his reign extended over all the lands of Herod the Great.

Their deference to Judaism made the Herods very popular among the Jews. It was to court their favor that Herod Agrippa I persecuted the Christians, beheading the apostle James and imprisoning Peter with the intent to kill him, also (Acts 12:1-5).

Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.

Herod's was not the first persecution, of course; there was that of Sadducees and chief priests studied last week, that of the Hellenists (see Acts 7:1-60) and that of Saul of Tarsus, before his conversion. There were to be many more in the succeeding centuries, though their severity was not so great, according to modern historians, as earlier writers would lead us to believe.

There is always the question as to why James, one of Christ's closest and most honored followers, should be executed and Peter delivered by God. The answer, of course, lies with God, but we may be sure that it best

Princess' Garb On Motorcycle Is Deplored

LONDON (AP)—One of Britain's biggest papers suggested that Princess Margaret doesn't dress properly when riding the back seat of a motorcycle.

The Daily Express printed pictures of the queen's younger sister riding behind husband Lord Snowdon on a country jaunt last weekend. Her skirt was pulled back, displaying her shapely legs.

An Express fashion columnist had these complaints about Margaret's cycling attire:

1. She shouldn't wear a tight skirt. Trousers would be "chic and cheerful."

2. A sweater or a windproof jacket would be preferable to the stylish crash she wore.

3. A crash helmet should also be worn. Margaret was bare-headed.

4. Also for safety reasons Margaret should wear flat heels instead of the high heels she had on.

5th Infantry General
Bruised in Chute Leap

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Joseph (Cider Jo) W. Stilwell suffered a dislocated right shoulder Wednesday in a practice parachute jump.

Stilwell, assistant commander of the 5th Infantry Division, was at this northern New York training camp to direct antiguerrilla warfare training of the 2nd Brigade of Ft. Devens, Mass. An Army spokesman said he apparently had landed off balance.

Stilwell is the son of the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Jo) Stilwell, who was commander of the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

Mother Is A Queen

And next Sunday is something special. That's the day she wears a crown of love and affection, presented by her adoring family.

We think Mother is pretty wonderful, too. We see her efforts to balance a budget, her smile of satisfaction when she can lay something by.

Let's not forget Mother next Sunday. It's HER day.

Suffering for Christ's Sake

HOW WE MAY LIVE VICTORIOUSLY EVEN WHEN COMPELLED TO SUFFER FOR CHRIST'S SAKE.

Scripture—Acts 12:1-5; 1 Peter 4:1-6:14.

By N. SPEER JONES

AGAIN THIS WEEK our letter of "faith, counsel and courage" is the so-called First Epistle of Peter, and it draws much of its inspiration from Peter's own early experiences.

The experience cited in our lesson probably occurred in 44 A.D., 14 years after Christ's resurrection. At that time the ruler in Judea was Herod Agrippa I. He was a grandson of Herod the Great, infamous in Biblical history for his massacre of the babes of Bethlehem. Herod Agrippa I was the son of Aristobolus, and the nephew of Herod Antipas (son of Herod the Great), who put to death John the Baptist for his criticism.

GOLDEN TEXT
"If one suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but under that name let him glorify God."—1 Peter 4:16.

Herod's was not the first persecution, of course; there was that of Sadducees and chief priests studied last week, that incited by the Hellenists (see Acts 7:1-60) and that of Saul of Tarsus, before his conversion. There were to be many more in the succeeding centuries, though their severity was not so great, according to modern historians, as earlier writers would lead us to believe.

There is always the question as to why James, one of Christ's closest and most honored followers, should be executed and Peter delivered by God. The answer, of course, lies with God, but we may be sure that it best served His purpose this way.

Perhaps both a martyrdom and an organizing were needed at the time to keep the church alive, and God chose the men best-suited to these different tasks.

Both, of course, suffered for Christ's sake, each in his own way. Much of our assigned material deals with encouragement to those Christians who suffer for Christ's sake (1 Peter 12-19). Suffering is a purification, we are reminded; rarely it embitters, but more often it perfects and sweetens character.

There is a wealth of material in this letter of Peter's, including his exhortations in view of special privileges (1:13-2:10), special relations (2:11-4:11) and special trials (4:12-5:11).

Princess' Garb On Motorcycle Is Deplored

LONDON (AP)—One of Britain's biggest papers suggested that Princess Margaret doesn't dress properly when riding the back seat of a motorcycle.

The Daily Express printed pictures of the queen's younger sister riding behind husband Lord Snowdon on a country jaunt last weekend. Her skirt was pulled back, displaying her shapely legs.

An Express fashion columnist had these complaints about Margaret's cycling attire:

1. She shouldn't wear a tight skirt. Trousers would be "chic and cheerful."
2. A sweater or a windproof jacket would be preferable to the stylish jacket she wore.
3. A crash helmet should also be worn. Margaret was bare-headed.
4. Also for safety reasons Margaret should wear flat heels instead of the high heels she had on.

Topics Listed for Methodists

"Prophetic Troublemakers", "Understanding Yourself and Others" and "Christian Action in Circleville" are the three titles selected by the Adult Education Study Committee of First Methodist Church for the second six weeks period of the new program of Adult Elective Classes.

During the first six weeks concluded last Sunday, the adult attendance for the church school hour doubled as the membership participated in courses on "Communism and Christianity", "Teachings of Jesus" and "When Children Ask" conducted by William Wolfe, Mrs. N. I. Reichelderfer, and Mrs. George Lawson.

For the next series which begins this coming Sunday, those interested may register when they arrive if they have not done so previously.

Mrs. Ned Kraft will be the leader for the course titled, "Prophetic Troublemakers" which will deal with the Prophets of the Old Testament. Mrs. Kraft has an AB degree in Religious Education and Religion from the National College for Christian Workers in Kansas City. She received her public school education in Circleville and Lancaster. She has served as a pastor's assistant, been a church secretary and children's worker as well as an instructor in public religious education in Morgan County. She is immediate past president of the Woman's Society of the local church.

Dan Crabtree who will conduct the course, "Understanding Yourself and Others" is a graduate of Missouri Valley College with a BA degree in Human Relations. A native of Portsmouth he has lived in Circleville almost a year. He is employed as supervisor of Employer and Community Relations for General Electric.

The course, "Christian Action in Circleville" will have as leader, Mrs. Roloff Wolford, executive secretary of the American Red Cross, who has served the local and district church organizations in numerous ways over a period of years. This course will touch on education, government, law enforcement, business and community programs.

Mothers Day Commercialism Left Holiday's Founder Bitter

If Anna Jarvis was alive today she might see some hope for Mothers Day after all. There are signs the annual observance is taking on some of the religious flavor Anna had in mind when she thought up the idea.

Mounting commercialization of Mothers Day left Anna Jarvis, ironically, without sympathy for the cause she created when she lay on her deathbed in 1948, blind, deaf and penniless.

Commercialization is more widespread than ever before—the estimate for this year is that sales will top $1 billion—but manifestations of the religious significance of the day also are apparent.

The American Mothers Committee, the organization which selects the mother of the year, reports churches throughout the land are paying increasingly more attention to Mothers Day with special services and sermons. A number of firms which sell religious goods say they are beginning, at least, to share in the billion dollar bonanza.

The idea for an annual Mothers Day was born in a church house, and to Anna's way of thinking it never should have left it. A place on the lawn of Andrews of Ft. Devens, Mass. An Army spokesman said he apparently had landed off balance.

Stilwell is the son of the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell, who was commander of the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

On the second anniversary of her mother's death, May 9, 1907, Anna held memorial services at her home in Philadelphia, then set out on a crusade for a national holiday to honor the nation's mothers.

The following year, and on the second Sunday in May every year thereafter, the Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton has held special Mothers Day services. The Rev. Virgil Gillum, the pastor, will use as Sunday's scripture text the same verse Dr. Harry C. Howard spoke from in 1908: "Woman behold thy son... behold thy mother."

Anna Jarvis' campaign resulted in Congress passing a resolution in 1914, signed by President Woodrow Wilson, proclaiming an annual observance.

But as the commercial importance of the day grew so did Anna's disappointment. Gradually it turned to bitterness and she retreated from the world, rarely leaving her house except to tend her mother's grave. Acquaintances discovered her living in poverty, raised some money and put her in a sanitarium.

In post-Civil War days Anna's mother, a Sunday school teacher at the church, used to promote a spring picnic honoring the mothers of the community. The war had turned neighbor against neighbor, just as it had divided the state itself, and Mrs. Jarvis hoped to heal the scars by getting

Subversive Tag Asked For Muslims

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles is asking federal officials to declare the Black Muslim movement a subversive organization.

He said he wants to discuss the city's tense racial situation with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Factions in the Negro community have been charging police brutality since a riot April 28 in which a member of the Muslim cult was killed.

The Muslim movement is nationwide, antiwhite group which claims its aim is to establish an all-Negro nation within the boundaries of the United States.

Yorty told a news conference Wednesday the Muslims promote race hatred. He said declaring the group subversive would permit stronger police measures.

He also disclosed police had seized records in Muslim headquarters here, including lists of 400 dues-paying members. Yorty said more than 50 per cent of the members here have criminal records.

In the April riot, one policeman was shot and two others seriously injured. One Muslim was slain, six wounded and more than a score arrested. The riot started after two officers stopped a pair of cult members to question them about men's clothes piled in their car.

A grand jury is investigating the Muslim movement.

Subversive Tag Asked For Muslims

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles is asking federal officials to declare the Black Muslim movement a subversive organization.

He said he wants to discuss the city's tense racial situation with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Faceions in the Negro community have been charging police brutality since a riot April 28 in which a member of the Muslim cult was killed.

The Muslim movement is nationwide, antiwhite group which claims its aim is to establish an all-Negro nation within the boundaries of the United States.

Yorty told a news conference Wednesday the Muslims promote race hatred. He said declaring the group subversive would permit stronger police measures.

He also disclosed police had seized records in Muslim headquarters here, including lists of 400 dues-paying members. Yorty said more than 50 per cent of the members here have criminal records.

In the April riot, one policeman was shot and two others seriously injured. One Muslim was slain, six wounded and more than a score arrested. The riot started after two officers stopped a pair of cult members to question them about men's clothes piled in their car.

A grand jury is investigating the Muslim movement.

Hospitals Continue To Improve Service

A nurse in Suburban Community Hospital, Cleveland, demonstrates to a bed-bound patient the convenience of an electric bed.

By SYLVIA ZEIGER
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

More than 7,000 American hospitals united to celebrate National Hospital Week this week.

Attention was focused on the achievements and problems of hospitals to promote better public understanding of hospital services.

Since 1658, when our first hospital was erected in what is now New York City, hospitals have progressively improved their services, aiding doctors diagnose illness, restore health and save lives.

Better and more intensive treatment and reduced length of hospital stay are some of the results. The average stay in a hospital for an appendectomy 20 years ago, for example, was 14 days. In 1960, the average stay was four days.

Science and technology contribute to this effort with cobalt bombs, X-ray machines, electrocardiographs and antibiotics, but the main factor in providing better patient care is hospital personnel. The 83 per cent increase in hospital employees since 1946 reflects the growing number of services provided by hospitals.

Cleveland's Hospital Council, a mutual aid association with current membership of 48 metropolitan hospitals, was founded in 1916, the first such organization in the nation.

It reports that round-the-clock hospital care for one patient for one day requires the services of about 24 people. Many of them, such as technicians, perform unseen by the patient.

Although more than two million persons served as volunteers with no pay, two-thirds of the more than $8 billion hospitals spent in 1960 for the care of 25 million patients was for employees' salaries.

High cost of equipment has contributed to the 108 per cent in-

Briley Plans Lengthy Tour of Foreign Nations

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—John Marshall Briley, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, says he will leave next month for a five-week tour of major foreign nations.

Briley, who defeated three other candidates for the nomination, said he is making the trip to prepare himself for the campaign against incumbent Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche.

Briley said he expects to meet with leaders of the common market nations. He also plans to visit Yugoslavia, Russia and perhaps Egypt, he added.

Tax Relief For Business To Be Offered

Together, Dillon has declared, the twin tax measures will give U.S. industry a better tax break than their long-envied foreign competitors. And, he has said, they should stimulate the kind of plant improvements that can bring American exporters closer to cost equality in world markets.

Fowler assured the business leaders that the guidelines are rooted in reality—that they recognized the more rapid obsolescence of industrial equipment in an era of changing technology. He left no doubt that the new rules will go into effect regardless of the fate of the tax credit legislation, and disclosed also that:

The new rules will be vastly simpler than those set forth in the Treasury's existing, 20-year-old Bulletin F. Instead of specifying official useful lives for 5,000 separate items, there will be only a handful of broad classes of items for each industry.

The new schedule will not cover factory structures, warehouses, or other buildings, Fowler said, because the Treasury wants to see whether Congress passes proposed legislation closing what he called a loophole in the tax treatment of gains made on the sale of depreciable property.

If Congress does close this loophole, the Treasury will go ahead with revisions of Bulletin F covering buildings, Fowler assured the businessmen.

Any business which has been able to prove to the Internal Revenue Service that the depreciable life of its equipment is shorter than those set forth in the new guidelines will be permitted to use the shorter period of write-off, he said.

And as long as a company's depreciation reserves do not become inordinately high—which would be an indication that old equipment is not being replaced as contemplated—the depreciation rate will not be subject to challenge at any time.

A company using the new schedule will not be questioned for a long period of time, Fowler said, even if its depreciation reserve grows large. The revenue service will act only when, after a period of years, it appears that

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—For many years there has been a reluctance—at least publicly—by the American government to belt its Allies, even when they dragged their feet or got downright obstructive.

The Kennedy administration seems to be melting some of this reluctance. But nothing visible yet shows that President Kennedy has reached a decision to get rough. He's only in the chastising stage now.

A couple of examples came in this past week from Kennedy and his secretary of defense, Robert McNamara.

Ever since last summer Kennedy has been sweating out the job of trying to cool off the Berlin crisis and reach some agreement that will calm the Russians and still be acceptable to the Allies particularly West Germany.

Then in the past few weeks the West German government of Chancellor Adenauer has been belittling the American efforts and ideas. President De Gaulle of France wouldn't even approve negotiating at all.

Kennedy has been trying to avoid a showdown Berlin crisis which could lead to war in Europe. The disdainful De Gaulle stood aloof, doing nothing although such a war could overwhelm him.

At his news conference this week, just after Adenauer had scoffed at the arrangements this administration was trying to work out on Berlin, the President let go.

He said the United States had done more than any other nation to guarantee the freedom of the West Berliners—over whom Adenauer expresses so much concern—and would bear the brunt of any conflict with the Russians.

For that reason, he said, "we have some rights to at least explore" the possibility of a solution.

But this could be taken as a double crack at De Gaulle who hasn't yet fulfilled his share of the Allied agreements on how many men and divisions would be put at the disposal of that organization in case of war.

This is where Kennedy seemed to be aiming at the Frenchman. He said "it isn't difficult to say equipment is not being replaced as rapidly as the company claims.

The council, meanwhile, awaited expected optimistic forecasts by industry's own economists of strongly rising business activity through 1962.

you shouldn't do this or that, and at the same time some countries do not play as active a role as we've been willing to play in an attempt to work this out."

Ohio Courts Change Studied

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Bar Association has launched a move to bring major changes to the state's court system.

The plan was disclosed here Thursday by the association's Council of Delegates, meeting as part of the state bar's annual convention.

The plan—which probably will go on the ballot in November 1963 amendment—would streamline court operations and give greater power to the Ohio Supreme Court.

It is the result of nearly four years of work by the Bar Committee on Judicial Organization, headed by Earl F. Morris of Columbus, a former Bar Association president.

"The program would utilize existing manpower more efficiently," Morris said in an interview. "It would unify all courts into one for better administrative handling."

Major objectives include creating a single court in each county and placing control of those courts under direct supervision of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The present name of Common Pleas Court would be retained, but this court would merge with all other county courts.

Another provision calls for all salaries to be paid from the state treasury and for all judges to receive the same pay, regardless of the county size or population.

"Since judges could be assigned more easily to overburdened counties where they are needed, they should get the same pay," Morris explained.

No judge may run for re-election upon reaching the age of 70, under the proposal, but former judges with 10 or more years temporary duty by the Supreme Court.

Those judges now performing duties handled by courts lower than Common Pleas, such as Municipal Court, would be called associate judges and elected on a county-wide basis.

Although more than two million persons served as volunteers with no pay, two-thirds of the more than $8 billion hospitals spent in 1960 for the care of 25 million patients was for employees' salaries.

High cost of equipment has contributed to the 108 per cent increase in medical costs in the past 20 years. An electric bed costs from $400 to $600; minimum cost of one X-ray machine is $16,500.

Although this increase in medical costs compares favorably with other increases during the same period (139 per cent increase in cost of public transportation; 1,951 per cent increase in food costs), hospital administrators are constantly on the look-out for ways to reduce expenses and still continue to provide optimum patient care.

Some hospital planners are viewing with interest the circular hospital with an inner core where one nurse or medical aide can maintain constant vigil over as many as 22 patients with the help of such nuclear-age devices as closed-television scanning circuits and electronic monitoring equipment.

However, until a machine can note a change in a patient's coloring or interpret, as a watchful human being, a patient's need, it's unlikely a machine will replace a nurse. Admittedly, too, machines are not as good to look at.

In recent years, special attention has been given to the emotional as well as physical needs of patients.

Patients are made comfortable and happy with such aids to recovery as ceiling television, electrically adjustable beds, carts with both food-heating and refrigeration units, remote controlled background music and air-conditioning.

In many hospitals, the newly-born infant and its mother happily occupy the same hospital room. A first trip to the hospital, unless understood by the young patient, can be a terrifying experience for him.

To remove this fear of the unknown, the Cleveland Hospital Council prepared a cut-out and coloring book, "Your Hospital Helpers", for distribution by hospitals to hospitalized youngsters.

The book is in a form familiar to the small child and it introduces him to the hospital personnel he will meet.

For these and other dedicated efforts, Americans everywhere salute the medical profession, scientists, technologists and the other thousands engaged in the care of the hospitalized.

Actress Explains Why She Keeps Marital Status Secret

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why would a film actress want to hide her marriage?

This question has puzzled Hollywood as it studies the case of Yvette Mimieux. She is one of the town's most promising young actresses. She also appears to be quite married.

She is reliably reported to have wed a psychology teacher named Evan Engber 2½ years ago. Yvette has refused to confirm or deny. This despite the fact that Engber visited her on Hawaiian locations for "Diamond Head" and frequently calls for her at Columbia Studios.

There has been conjecture that her silence is a kind of reverse publicity gimmick. Her mentor is the same canny chap who impelled Jayne Mansfield to acres of press clippings.

But why all the secrecy about a matter which most people are happy to tell about?

"I feel very strongly about this," she said. "I have seen people in this town destroyed by coming to the point where I have to do that, I'll quit acting. I hope I don't have to do that, because I love to act."

"But more important than that is my self-respect, my own sense of dignity. If I can't preserve that, then all the rest doesn't mean anything."

Yvette opined that the Roman ruckus of Elizabeth Taylor confirmed her beliefs.

"It was so blown up by publicity," she said. "Or even if it did happen the way it appeared, it didn't deserve all that attention."

"People seem to want to hold the stars' mistakes up to the light as if to say, 'I'm not so bad after all; look what they did!' I think it's wrong to be put in that position, and I'm going to do everything I can to avoid it."

1,100-Man Layoff Seen For Cleveland Payroll

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Safety Director John N. McCormick estimates he will have to lay off 1,100 persons next year if sufficient funds for operation of his department are not provided. He made the comment Thursday as he studied the effects of the rejection by voters of the city tax levy in Tuesday's election.

He said layoffs would include 250-300 policemen, 200-225 firemen and about 600 civilian employees.

1,100-Man Layoff Seen For Cleveland Payroll

CLEVELAND (AP)— Cleveland Safety Director John N. McCormick estimates he will have to lay off 1,100 persons next year if sufficient funds for operation of his department are not provided. He made the comment Thursday as he studied the effects of the rejection by voters of the city tax levy in Tuesday's election.

He said layoffs would include 250-300 policemen, 200-225 firemen and about 600 civilian employees.

Work Load Heavy Before Horse Show

When a class of horses enters the show ring at any horse show, only the initiated person understands just how much work has gone into the realization of that equine beauty.

A visit to the barns a short while before a class is called will find riders and usually members of their families as well as any friends they can spare for the occasion bathing, brushing, polishing, cleaning and painting hooves as well as going over saddles and bridles in the best housekeeping manner. If a judge wipes a white handkerchief across the flanks of a horse, there is a reason. He wants to know if the horse is really clean.

For those attending the Kiwanis Charity Horse Show at the Fairgrounds on May 26-27 the barns will be an interesting place to visit. One might even have an opportunity to watch the farrier as he shoes a horse.

Probably the most interesting group of riders to watch as they prepare their horses for the show ring will be the youthful equitation riders. Many of them are 4-H members who have learned in their club work the value of cleanliness, good food and conscientious care for their horse for performance both in and out of the show ring.

THERE will be three classes in the Equitation Division plus one in Hunter Seat Equitation for riders under 18. The junior class will include those through 13 years of age and the senior class those from 14 to 18. These will be classes five and nine on Saturday night. An Equitation Stake, Class 21 on Sunday afternoon will determine an over all champion.

Equitation is one class in which the rider alone is judged. Theoretically the contestant would win riding a mule if he could get it through the walk, trot and canter in the proper sequence.

In this class, too, the young rider will probably be asked questions about his horse, such as where is the brislet and what are the withers or perhaps a question may concern his tack, such as what is the purpose of the snaffle rein. The rider is taught to lace—pick up—his reins in a prescribed fashion. He will be asked to demonstrate for the judge.

Many times, those watching

wonder why a rider who has performed beautifully in the ring doesn't come out with the trophy. It may be that he didn't lace his reins properly or perhaps he just couldn't tell the judge where the hock can be found on a horse.

Sponsors for Class 5 and Class 9 are Circleville New Car Dealers with Kiwanis providing the trophies. Walnut Street Greenhouse and Cecil Roush are sponsors for the Equitation Stake Class on Sunday afternoon.

All Kiwanis members are selling tickets for the Show which will begin at 7 p. m. on Saturday evening, May 26 and 1 p. m. on Sunday, May 27.

Adkins Leads OC Strikeouts

Joe Adkins, ace hurler for the Kenyon College baseball nine, currently is leading the Ohio Conference in strikeouts.

The former Circleville High School mound star has fanned 81 in 10 games. His record for the season is 5-5.

Adkins' latest performance was a 1-0 decision over Capital on Tuesday. He fired three strikes past seven batters in this contest.

Kenyon now stands at 7-9 in the Ohio Conference. Capital is 3-5.

The fast ball specialist, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., Northridge Road, has been scouted by several major league teams, including the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Jack Homel is in his 17th season as trainer for the Detroit Tigers.

Stonerock TV Gains Finals At Washington

Stonerock's TV softball team banged its way into the finals of the Fayette Softball Tournament at Washington C. H. by downing River Oil of Chillicothe, 6-3, last night.

Don Neff led off the TV assault with a triple and Speeder Davis drove him in with a single. Harold Gulick then doubled and Davis scored on a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth Neff walked, Davis singled and Junior Taylor homered. The local softball nine scored all but one run in those two innings.

Harry Strawser started the game for the Stonerock crew but was relieved by Kenny Reid, after River took a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning. Reid was credited with the win.

THE Circleville softballers gained the semifinal round by virtue of two 1-0 wins. In their first encounter in the tourney they beat Hamilton and in the second Paul Neff hurled a one hit shutout.

Tonight they tangle with Port Williams, a Clinton County nine, to determine the winner of the tourney.

Broncos Second In Track Event

Young Tigers Place Second At Frankfort

The Circleville Junior high track team, composed largely of seventh graders, placed second in the last meet of the season at Frankfort. Southeastern won the triangular affair with a total of 75 points, Circleville had 36 1/2 and Frankfort was third with 25 1/2.

Doug Pontious was the top point maker for the little Tigers. He earned a first in the pole vault, topping ten feet, first in the 440 yard dash, going the route in 61.5 and placed third in the 220 with a time of 26.5.

Tim Stonerock ran the 880 yard run in 2:30, good for second. Mike Ramey turned in a second place performance when he heaved the shot 41'10" and the 440 and 880 yard relay teams both placed second.

Third place efforts were turned in by Steve Dade in the 120 low hurdles, and the broad jump. Gary Black in the high jump and Mike Ramey in the discus.

Fourth place awards went to Stonerock, Wells, Jenkins, and Black.

Mickey Wright Seeks Grand Slam

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—If Mickey Wright can win the Women's Western Open Golf Tournament, which she leads by one stroke, the long-driving blonde will be thinking in terms of a grand slam.

The Western, the Titleholders at Augusta, Ga., the Ladies PGA Championship and the Open are the "big four" of women's golf. Miss Wright already has won the Titleholders. She almost made a slam last year, winning all except the Western.

The 27-year-old Dallas, Tex., competitor fired a 3-under par 69 in Thursday's opening round for a one stroke lead over the defending champion, Mary Lena Faulk of Sea Island, Ga.

Bay Mare Is Winner Of Feature at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Royal Tess, a 4-year-old bay mare, won the featured pace in 2:09 1/2 at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night. She returned $32.60.

Milton's Pride paid $4.40 for place, McDaniel O. Boy was third and worth $5.60.

Mufflers and Tailpipes INSTALLED GORDON'S Main and Scioto

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, his booming driver under control and sporting a one-stroke lead, headed a classy Colonial field today into the second round of the golf tournament.

Palmer, already a five-time current champion and the tour's leading money winner with $52,308 shot a sizzling 67 to take command of the $40,400 event which carries a $7,000 first place check.

The three-under-par round left him a stroke ahead of South African Gary Player, Doug Ford and Bo Wininger and two shots out front of five others.

Legion Team Tryouts Slated Here Sunday

Chet Iery, manager of the American Legion Baseball program in Circleville, announced today that the first tryouts for the Legion team will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at the Ted Lewis Park.

Iery said boys 16, 17 and 18 were eligible to compete in Legion baseball. So far 17 hopefuls have signed up here.

Some Legion nines have already started practice according to Iery, and he hopes to schedule more tryouts and practices before the end of school. When school is out he plans to practice the team every day.

The first game for the local team will be with Mt. Sterling June 3. Iery said uniforms and equipment had been purchased.

ONE GAME, presently in the planning stages, is an encounter with a legion team in Cincinnati. Present plans call for the game to be scheduled when the Cincinnati Reds are on a home stand so the teams can attend a major league game following their own tilt.

Circleville is in District 7. Other cities in the district fielding teams are Portsmouth, Chillicothe and Mt. Sterling. Games will be scheduled with these units as well as Columbus, Newark, Washington C. H., Lancaster and Cincinnati squads.

In 1933, when Mr. Khayyam won the Wood Memorial his owner received $3,760. Twenty years later when Native Dancer won, Alfred G. Vanderbilt took down $87,000.

Many times, those watching

wonder why a rider who has performed beautifully in the ring doesn't come out with the trophy. It may be that he didn't lace his reins properly or perhaps he just couldn't tell the judge where the hock can be found on a horse.

Sponsors for Class 5 and Class 9 are Circleville New Car Dealers with Kiwanis providing the trophies. Walnut Street Greenhouse and Cecil Roach are sponsors for the Equitation Stake Class on Sunday afternoon.

All Kiwanis members are selling tickets for the show which will begin at 7 p. m. on Saturday evening, May 26 and 1 p. m. on Sunday, May 27.

Adkins Leads OC Strikeouts

Joe Adkins, ace hurler for the Kenyon College baseball nine, currently is leading the Ohio Conference in strikeouts.

The former Circleville High School mound star has fanned 81 in 10 games. His record for the season is 5-5.

Adkins' latest performance was a 1-0 decision over Capital on Tuesday. He fired three strikes past seven batters in this contest.

Kenyon now stands at 7-9 in the Ohio Conference. Capital is 3-5.

The fast ball specialist, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., Northridge Road, has been scouted by several major league teams, including the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Jack Homel is in his 17th season as trainer for the Detroit Tigers.

Stonerock TV Gains Finals At Washington

Stonerock's TV softball team banged its way into the finals of the Fayette Softball Tournament at Washington C. H. by downing River Oil of Chillicothe, 6-5, last night.

Don Neff led off the TV assault with a triple and Speeder Davis drove him in with a single. Harold Gulick then doubled and Davis scored on a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth Neff walked, Davis singled and Junior Taylor homered. The local softball nine scored all but one run in those two innings.

Harry Strawser started the game for the Stonerock crew but was relieved by Kenny Reid, after River took a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning. Reid was credited with the win.

THE Circleville softballers gained the semifinal round by virtue of two 1-0 wins. In their first encounter in the tourney they beat Hamilton and in the second Paul Neff hurled a one hit shutout.

Tonight they tangled with Port Williams, a Clinton County nine, to determine the winner of the tourney.

Broncos Second In Track Event

Asheville lost a dual track meet by just four points, 61-57, at Amanda Clearcreek Wednesday.

Bill Pritchard was a double winner for the Broncos, placing first in the 120 high hurdles and in the pole vault.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Rameal D. Hinton, who passed away May 11, 1961. One year has passed since that sad day. We never thought that death was near. The call was sudden, the shock severe. Only those who have lost can tell. The pain of passing without farewell. While you sleep a peaceful sleep. Sadly missed by wife, Celia and family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Rameal D. Hinton, who passed away May 11, 1961. One year has passed since that sad day. We never thought that death was near. The call was sudden, the shock severe. Only those who have lost can tell. The pain of passing without farewell—While you sleep a peaceful sleep. Your memory we shall always keep. Sadly missed by wife, Celia and family.

Laotian Troopers Reported Fleeing From Red Forces

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Royal Laotian troops were reported fleeing across the Mekong River into friendly Thailand today as pro-Communist forces seized Houei Sai more than 100 miles beyond the cease-fire line.

The Red rebels drove forward to capture the government outpost on the Mekong border and complete their occupation of the whole of northwest Laos in defiance of a demand from their neutralist ally Prince Souvanna Phouma, to halt their offensive.

The shattering of the year-old truce raised growing concern in the U.S. government, which has been pressuring Prince Boun Oum's anti-Communist Vientiane regime to come to terms with the neutralists and Red-line Prince Souphanouvong and form a national unity government.

Officials of the Kennedy administration still held hopes the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces would be checked. But informants in Washington said some U.S. forces conceivably could become involved in Laos if the Reds try to overrun the whole of the jungle kingdom.

The Vientiane defense ministry announced the pro-Communist forces moved into Houei Sai today after overrunning government troops fighting a rearguard action Wednesday.

American military sources said government troops were crossing the river into Thailand Thursday night but added, "We don't know exactly what happened then."

Royal army units had fought a five-hour battle with the onrushing Pathet Lao troops at Tha Fai, 20 miles north of Houei Sai, but failed to check them, the defense ministry reported.

Reports reaching Vientiane indicated Houei Sai, last government outpost in the northwest, was given up without a fight.

The Pathet Lao, backed and armed by the Soviet Union, North Viet Nam and Red China, surged forward in a lightning offensive that advanced more than 100 miles in five days after the capture of Nam Tha, provincial capital near the Chinese border.

Details on the fall of Houei Sai were meager. There were no reports of government casualties or how many escaped. The royal garrison at Nam Tha totaled 5,000 men but they had proved no match for the rebel onslaught and beat a hasty retreat south.

The Pathet Lao kept up their advance despite an order from neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, his half-brother, to pull his forces back to the cease-fire line established May 3, 1961. Souvanna, the choice of a coalition government, is in France for medical treatment and the wedding of a daughter.

The rebel advance to Thailand's northeast frontier was certain to arouse grave new fears in that pro-Western kingdom and to bring new demands for action by the United States or the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to check to pro-Communist Laotians.

The Thai government has said repeatedly that a Communist takeover in Laos would be a major threat to Thailand, which the United States is pledged to defend against Communist aggression.

No Atom Test Conflict Seen For Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency says the U.S. nuclear test series in the Pacific won't conflict with astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter's space flight if he makes the trip in May or early June, as planned.

However, if he doesn't get off the launch pad then, the agency said, the space flight probably will have to be postponed because of high-altitude nuclear tests planned for late June and July.

The radiation such shots would send into the path of a low-orbiting satellite is at the core of the scheduling difficulty.

The early nuclear shots in the present series are being exploded in the atmosphere and the radiation from them would remain far below the orbiting Mercury craft.

Actually, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said, nuclear test observations on the ground will be stationed closer to the test shots than Carpenter would be in passing overhead.

The situation will be different when the United States switches to high-altitude shots. Carpenter's flight would have to give way because the nuclear series has priority over Project Mercury.

Local Man Named Knight of Year

Paul R. Schilling, 1127 Atwater Ave., was named one of the Knights of the Year of the Chillicothe unit, Knights of Columbus, during a dual selection for the honors recently at Chillicothe. The other selection was Donald L. Hollis, Chillicothe.

Schilling, local representative for the David Davies Co., is a former resident of Chillicothe and retains his membership in the K of C, Flaget Council, at Chillicothe.

Both men receiving the honors were previously named as Knights of the Month in 1961, and were selected for outstanding service in the council.

The awards were made at the 12th annual dinner held Sunday evening. Each was presented with a plaque by James Groeber, grand knight of the council.

The main address for the dinner was delivered by Rev. Richard J. Connelly of St. Coleman's Catholic Church, Washington, C. H., and the state chaplain of the KofC.

Denver and Philadelphia mints were completely empty of coins after the 1961 Christmas shopping season.

Annual Teacher Outing

Retiring Teachers Honored by CTA

Five retiring teachers and two past Board of Education members were honored during an annual Spring Dinner conducted by the Circleville Teachers Assn. yesterday at Hide-A-Way Hill's Lodge near Bremen.

REV. CHARLES HARRISON

Also recognized for his service to Circleville schools was Superintendent George A. Hartman who has resigned here to accept a similar post in the Lebanon School System. Approximately 140 teachers and guests were present to enjoy the dinner and the spacious and scenic outing area.

Retiring teachers honored were Ruth Denman, Margaret Mattinson, Ruby Wallon, Lucille Webb and Blanche Woltz. Board members recognized were past president Carl Leist and Mrs. Louise Heine.

Miss Mattinson is retiring from the local system after 42 years of teaching service. Honored for 40 years in the profession were Mrs. Denman and Mrs. Webb.

MRS. WALLON was cited for 36 years and Mrs. Woltz 30. Leist served 20 years on the Board and Mrs. Heine eight.

All the retiring teachers and the two board members were presented gifts by the association.

A highlight of the evening was an address by the Rev. Charles Harrison, Deputy Superintendent of the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

Grace was given by the Rev. Paul I. Wachs of the First Methodist Church. Richard Beadle, president of Circleville Teachers Assn., voiced the welcome, and Richard Fisher, CTA president for 1962-63, introduced new officers for the coming year.

Recognition of the retiring members of the faculty was directed by E. R. Bennett. Remarks on the past school year were presented by Superintendent Hartman.

DiSalle Says Coleman Stays As Dem Boss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says, barring the sudden appearance of "a political genius . . . who has all the answers and a lot of money," he expects William L. Coleman to continue as state Democratic chairman.

DiSalle, the titular head of the Democratic Party in Ohio, made the comment to newsmen Thursday after a published report that Coleman, a Marysville attorney, might be on his way out as chairman.

The governor said he understands Coleman has enough votes to be re-elected to the $15,000-a-year job. The executive committee makes the decision.

The new Central Committee will have its organizational meeting here May 18.

In other matters, DiSalle told newsmen President Kennedy may visit Ohio during the coming state campaign.

If Kennedy does stop in Ohio, the governor explained, it probably will be in a marginal congressional district where the President could "kill two birds with one stone"—helping the congressional candidate as well as Democratic state-wide candidates.

Daffy Britons Go to Texas By Way of New York, London

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—"It was just plain daffy—I mean, fancy going to Texas by way of London," murmured weary Charlie Wood, who made three Atlantic crossings do the work of one.

"Worse than Columbus, by far."

Charlie, 65, a retired janitor who formerly worked at the British Ford plant in Dagenham, England, and his wife finally arrived here Thursday night.

They came to visit her sister, Kitty Cazassis—but only after flying back to London—they boarded the wrong plane in New York—and returning to the United States the next day aboard another jet.

Altogether, the Woods had traveled about 14,000 miles since sailing aboard the Queen Mary from Southampton a week earlier.

After Tuesday night in New York, the couple went to Idlewild Airport Wednesday. Charlie pulled out their tickets and handed them to an airline employee. "Take Pan American Flight 100," the employee said.

Flight 100 had been in the air about an hour when friendly Charlie asked an American across the aisle: "Where you flying to?"

"London," came the reply, and Charlie turned to his wife.

"He means some little London in Texas," Marie Wood, 62, explained calmly. "Some little spot we haven't heard of yet."

An uneasy Charlie fished out their tickets.

Instead of tickets for a Texas flight, Charlie had proffered tickets they'll use to go home six weeks hence.

They told the stewardess, who called the captain.

"Don't worry—we'll have you back in New York tomorrow," he said.

Thursday they recrossed the Atlantic and caught another flight out of New York. Pan American picked up the tab.

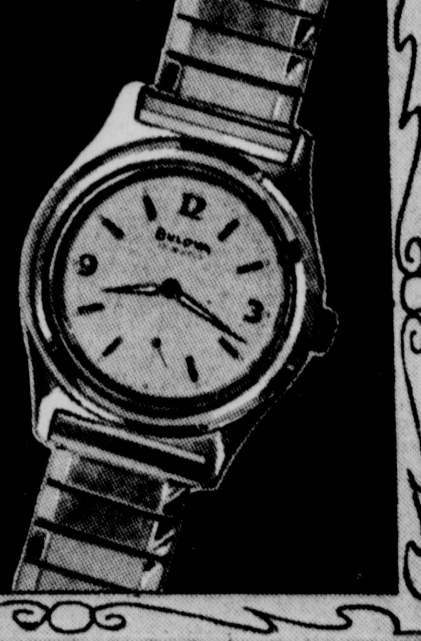

Charlie started his retirement two weeks ago. For three years he and his wife had saved to visit the sister she hadn't seen since World War II. Mrs. Cazassis, a widow, teaches night classes in English to foreign students at a college here.
